LATER news from Japan is distressing, thousands killed by earthquake and tidal wave.

At the front door of Japan, in the Pacific ocean, is the deepest hole in the world. Land slipping into this chasm causes earthquakes and tidal waves, but the Japanese are not discouraged.

China is a warning for nations controlled by pacifists. Ever since Confucius, and before, the philosophical Chinese have had for motto, "Why fight?" and ever since that time outsiders of the Jenghis Khan type have come in to conquer and rule peaceful Chinese. Some made them let the hair grow long, a convenient handle for chopping off their heads. Others made the women squeeze their feet so they couldn't run away.

MUSSOLINI'S Fascisti have a little picture showing the dove of peace nesting in the hands of a big sabre with a line saying it is the safest place for a peace nest.

If you don't want people to fight you, keep ready to fight. Nobody ever slapped Jack Dempsey's face.

AT ST. AUGUSTINE, before he was elected, President Harding said to this writer: "The second richest man in the world will be my secretary of the treasury. What do you think of that?"

Secretary Mellon has confirmed the writer's statement to President Harding that the second richest man in the world should know something about money and be a good man to look after Uncle Sam's cash.

Working for the wages of an average chief clerk, Mr. Mellon has already reduced the national debt by seven and a half billions, and will refund the 4¼ per cent Liberty bonds, exchange them for 3¾ per cent five year treasury notes. This one transaction will save the people $23,000,000 a year in interest charges. It is a good thing to confide an important job to one that understands that kind of job.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE will spend his vacation in the west, in response to many invitations. He should drive in a big automobile from Kansas City to Seattle, from Seattle down to San Diego, fishing here and there. He

Teach Children Rules of Etiquette

Good manners are an asset—bad manners a life-long handicap. This is one reason why children should have the advantage of early training in the practice of the little courtesies that rub off so many of the sharp edges of daily living.

The easiest and best way to teach the children manners is to set a good example yourself. Maybe you had better brush up on a few points.

SENATOR BENDER PLANS TO FILIBUSTER IN CLASH OVER DODD RESOLUTION

Proposal Provides for Joint Legislative Committee to Decide Upon Remedial Enactment as Result of Court Ruling.

WET-DRY CLASH AT COLUMBUS

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—"I will use every endeavor to prevent the adoption of the Dodd joint resolution in the Ohio senate and will resort to filibuster tactics, if necessary, in an effort to bring about its defeat," declared Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, Republican, here today.

Bender Will Press His Bill.

The Dodd resolution provided for appointment of a special joint legislative committee to decide what remedial legislation, if any, is necessary as a result of the recent unanimous decision of the U. S. supreme court invalidating Ohio statutes which authorized compensating village mayors from fines collected from liquor law violators. The resolution is in the hands of the senate rules committee after passing the house.

Bender voiced belief that the Dodd resolution constitutes "a move to sidetrack" his pending bill" which shall not be sidetracked, as the resolution, evidently, proposes shall be done," continued Bender.

"The published statement, credited to Dr. E. J. Moore, Columbus, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, that the bill by Senator L. T. Marshall, Greene county, placing justices and village mayors on fees instead of salaries, was introduced prior to my salary bill is untrue," Bender stated.

"The Marshall bill was introduced after I had offered by bill, and the purpose of Moore's statement is to delay action on my bill" declared Bender.

Dodd Explains Proposal.

Representative Dodd and other supporters of the resolution insisted that the Anti-Saloon league officials had nothing to do with the resolution. They declared that the sole purpose of the resolution as to "dispose of the matter in an unprejudiced, unbiased, judicial manner, and eliminate, if possible, everything smacking of a wet-dry controversy."

FRANK HOOVER IS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Court Bailiff Hissam's Car Upsets After Collision.

HEAD-ON SMASH

Gus Swanson Fined on Reckless Driving Charge.

City Solicitor Frank Hoover sustained a fractured right knee cap and other injuries, while Court Bailiff Carmen Hissam is suffering also from bruises to his right leg, as the result of an automobile crash on the Lincoln highway, two miles north of Stop 55, yesterday afternoon.

Gus Swanson, operator of a coal mine at Rock Camp, driver of the machine which is alleged to have crashed head-on into the car occupied by Hoover and Hissam, was fined $25 and costs and his automobile license suspended for six months after arraignment before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon a charge of fast and reckless driving. An action for damages, it is said, will be filed against Swanson.

The solicitor and bailiff were enroute to Lisbon to appear in a court suit when the accident occurred. Hissam, who was at the wheel of his car, a Chevrolet coupe, said that he was traveling at a rate of 25 miles an hour near the top of the hill leading to Rock Camp, when he met Swanson, driving an Oldsmobile sedan.

Swanson's Explanation.

Swanson claimed he had failed to notice the approach of the Hissam car because he was attempting to adjust the accelerator of his automobile. When he looked up it was too late to avert the crash. Hissam alleged that the Swanson car was on the wrong side of the road when the smash-up occurred.

Hoover was thrown 30 feet from the car, and the machine was overturned twice, coming to a stop in a field. Hissam was pinned under the wrecked car.

Judge Hanley on his way to Lisbon in another car, arrived just as Hissam was crawling from the wreckage.

Hoover and Hissam were brought to the City hospital by a passing motorist. Neither Swanson nor two women in his car were injured. Hissam received first aid treatment at the hospital, and Hoover was taken to his home last night after his leg had been placed in a plaster cast.

The Hissam car was reduced to a mass of wreckage. The front end of the Swanson machine was badly damaged. McElravy's wrecker brought both cars to East Liverpool.

Without Fire Fighting Apparatus By-standers are Helpless.

MOSCOW, March 10.—Sixty-seven persons were dead today in the village of Karavaikovo, in the northern part of Divna province, as the result of a fire which broke out in a theatre last night at a time when the house was crowded with spectators.

The entire population of the village had packed itself into a wooden school building, which had been turned into an improvised theatre, for amateur theatricals celebrating International Women's Day.

A kerosene lamp burst on the stage and flaming oil drenched a group of children taking part in the play.

Panic-stricken parents striving to rescue their children became ignited themselves and the holocaust ensued.

The village had no fire fighting apparatus and those who escaped from the burning building were forced to stand by helplessly and watch the fire consume the bodies of friends and neighbors.

Every family in the village lost at least one member in the fire.

Twenty-seven bodies have been recovered and 40 are missing.

PISTOL VICTIM DID NOT FIRE FIRST, WITNESS TELLS JURORS

Mrs. Rose Householder, Accused's Sister-in-law, on Stand.

BROOKES SCORES

Alleges Prisoner Struck Rodney Ogle Before Shooting.

The state struck hard blows at the self-defense plea of Roy Wallen, 33, coal miner, who is charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, at East Salineville, on Feb. 6, last, when the trial was resumed today before Judge William F. Duncan, of Findlay, in common pleas court, Lisbon.

Eye-Witnesses on Stand.

Mrs. Rose Householder, 24, and Paul Lagara, 17, sister-in-law and brother-in-law, respectively, of the accused man, were the state's trump cards.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes and his assistant, John E. Bauknecht, appeared for the state, while Attorney W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, East Liverpool, represented Wallen.

Eye-witnesses to the shooting, aftermath of an alleged beer party in the Ogle home, were called today as the hearing of evidence was resumed following yesterday afternoon's visit of jurors, defendant and attorneys to the scene of the killing.

Mrs. Householder testified for one hour and 34 minutes, while her brother was still on the stand when the noon recess was ordered.

Mrs. Householder on Stand.

Mrs. Householder testified under direct examination by Prosecutor Brookes that she lived at the T. A. Whitacre home on Lincoln highway, 11 miles west from Lisbon. She said that Wallen had married her sister, Angeline, in February, 1923, when she was about 14 years of age.

On the night of February 6, she said, she and her brother started for the home of Joseph Hammond in response to a letter that had been received from Mrs. Wallen, her sister, in which it was said that Mrs. Wallen was going to move away. They walked from Salineville and as they passed along the road and in front of the Ogle house she said she saw Angeline in the house, and the witness and her brother went in.

Ogle was there, she said. She declared that Wallen came into the house about five minutes later and had a mandolin with him. She said that she saw bottles of beer on the kitchen table. Later Wallen hit her and pulled a gun from his pocket, and called her a vile name.

A little later they were dancing and singing, and while Roy was playing the mandolin in the kitchen Angeline started to cry about Paul coming back, the witness said.

Describes Shooting.

Mrs. Householder then said her sister went in the sitting room, threw herself on the floor and that Wallen followed her. Wallen after ordering his wife to arise, grabbed her by the neck and pulled her to her feet, the witness swore. Ogle then remonstrated, she said.

When Ogle started to walk toward the kitchen, Wallen said "I have a notion to shoot you," Mrs. Householder testified. She saw Wallen then pull his gun from his pocket and fired two shots.

Wallen Threatened Her, Witness Says.

Prosecutor Brookes asked the witness to step from the witness box to the court room floor beside him to indicate the distance between Wallen

CRISIS IN STRANGE CASE OF "LIVING DEAD MAN," SNATCHED FROM GRAVE BY ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION, EXPECTED WITHIN NEXT 12 HOURS

EVANSTON, Ill., March 10.—A slight improvement was noted in the condition of Albert Frick, the "living dead man," at 9:30 this morning.

"The palate is active and the pulse brisk," said Dr. Charles F. Reed. "It is a hopeful sign."

The ninety-sixth hour of Frick's paralysis, which automatically stopped his ability to breathe, found 56 fellow employes of the Public Service company of Illinois still working in shifts of two keeping him alive by artificial respiration.

Oxygen Revives Spark of Life.

Frick almost died in a relapse early today and only the hurried use of oxygen kept the faint spark of life glowing.

A crisis is expected within the next 12 hours.

"It is impossible to forecast the future," said Dr. Reed. "One might say that if artificial respiration is kept up and if the boy's heart does not give way, there is a fair chance of his recovering.

"On the other hand, if the paralysis does not retire there is nothing we can do. The men, of course, will keep up respiration in the boy just as long as the least spark of life remains, but it can't be kept up forever.

"Literally it is a question whether the paralysis or Frick's vitality holds out the longest. And no one can say to just what lengths any given person's vitality may be stretched."

Technically, "Died" Sunday.

Technically, from the standpoint of medical science, Frick "died" last Sunday morning when he ceased to breathe after being stricken with motor paralysis. The stroke affected the diaphragm and chest walls, making respiration impossible.

But young Frick—he is only 22 years old—was reclaimed to life by the quick action of a physician who induced artificial respiration by pressing the patient's sides, forcing air in and out of his lungs.

Since that time the youth has been kept alive by muscular young men, friends of young Frick, who work in teams of two men each and in shifts of 15 minutes.

Life Depends on 56 Friends.

Four famous specialists and a group of trained nurses, representing all the skill of medical science, stand by, baffled and helpless, while this untiring crew of unskilled men, inspired by the desire to save a human life, go about their task with mechanical precision.

There is a man on either side of the bed. The patient is propped up at an angle of 45 degrees. In perfect rhythm the men press the patient's sides, bellows fashion, forcing the life-giving air in and out of the lungs. They work for 15 minutes and then two other men take their place. Not a single beat is missed. Should they cease for a minute the patient would die.

The physicians direct their labors and check on the patient's condition. There is little else they can do. Frick's life depends on the brawn of his 56 friends rather than the skill and intelligence of the specialists.

Infection from Tooth Blamed.

The physicians are hoping that the paralysis will in time disappear and that normal functioning of the respiratory organs may be resumed. Indications last night were that this was coming about. Frick has been so paralyzed that he could not swallow nor talk. Shortly before midnight he was able to swallow a little liquid nourishment and whisper a few words of thanks to the loyal friends who are fighting to bring him back to health.

Frick was stricken after he had two teeth extracted. It is believed an infection caused the paralysis. Physicians believe that if Frick can be kept alive until this infection runs its course, he will survive. Dr. R. C. Brown, one of the specialists in attendance, said the infection should run its course in five days. That should bring Frick's case to a crisis sometime today.

Judge Hanley on his way to Lisbon in another car, arrived just as Hissam was crawling from the wreckage.

Hoover and Hissam were brought to the City hospital by a passing motorist. Neither Swanson nor two women in his car were injured. Hissam received first aid treatment at the hospital, and Hoover was taken to his home last night after his leg had been placed in a plaster cast.

The Hissam car was reduced to a mass of wreckage. The front end of the Swanson machine was badly damaged. McElravy's wrecker brought both cars to East Liverpool.

67 PERSONS DIE AS FIRE RAZES PLAYHOUSE IN SOVIET TOWN

Flaming Oil Drenches Victims as Kerosene Lamp Bursts.

PANIC FOLLOWS

Without Fire Fighting Apparatus By-standers are Helpless.

MOSCOW, March 10.—Sixty-seven persons were dead today in the village of Karavaikovo, in the northern part of Divna province, as the result of a fire which broke out in a theatre last night at a time when the house was crowded with spectators.

The entire population of the village had packed itself into a wooden school building, which had been turned into an improvised theatre, for amateur theatricals celebrating International Women's Day.

A kerosene lamp burst on the stage and flaming oil drenched a group of children taking part in the play.

Panic-stricken parents striving to rescue their children became ignited themselves and the holocaust ensued.

The village had no fire fighting apparatus and those who escaped from the burning building were forced to stand by helplessly and watch the fire consume the bodies of friends and neighbors.

Every family in the village lost at least one member in the fire.

Twenty-seven bodies have been recovered and 40 are missing.

PISTOL VICTIM DID NOT FIRE FIRST, WITNESS TELLS JURORS

Mrs. Rose Householder, Accused's Sister-in-law, on Stand.

BROOKES SCORES

Alleges Prisoner Struck Rodney Ogle Before Shooting.

The state struck hard blows at the self-defense plea of Roy Wallen, 33, coal miner, who is charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, at East Salineville, on Feb. 6, last, when the trial was resumed today before Judge William F. Duncan, of Findlay, in common pleas court, Lisbon.

Eye-Witnesses on Stand.

Mrs. Rose Householder, 24, and Paul Lagara, 17, sister-in-law and brother-in-law, respectively, of the accused man, were the state's trump cards.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes and his assistant, John E. Baukhecht, appeared for the state, while Attorney W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, East Liverpool, represented Wallen.

Eye-witnesses to the shooting, aftermath of an alleged beer party in the Ogle home, were called today as the hearing of evidence was resumed following yesterday afternoon's visit of jurors, defendant and attorneys to the scene of the killing.

Mrs. Householder testified for one hour and 34 minutes, while her brother was still on the stand when the noon recess was ordered.

Mrs. Householder on Stand.

Mrs. Householder testified under direct examination by Prosecutor Brookes that she lived at the T. A. Whitacre home on Lincoln highway, 11 miles west from Lisbon. She said that Wallen had married her sister, Angeline, in February, 1923, when she was about 14 years of age.

On the night of February 6, she said, she and her brother started for the home of Joseph Hammond in response to a letter that had been received from Mrs. Wallen, her sister, in which it was said that Mrs. Wallen was going to move away. They walked from Salineville and as they passed along the road and in front of the Ogle house she said she saw Angeline in the house, and the witness and her brother went in.

Ogle was there, she said. She declared that Wallen came into the house about five minutes later and had a mandolin with him. She said that she saw bottles of beer on the kitchen table. Later Wallen hit her and pulled a gun from his pocket, and called her a vile name.

A little later they were dancing and singing, and while Roy was playing the mandolin in the kitchen Angeline started to cry about Paul coming back, the witness said.

Describes Shooting.

Mrs. Householder then said her sister went in the sitting room, threw herself on the floor and that Wallen followed her. Wallen after ordering his wife to arise, grabbed her by the neck and pulled her to her feet, the witness swore. Ogle then remonstrated, she said.

When Ogle started to walk toward the kitchen, Wallen said "I have a notion to shoot you," Mrs. Householder testified. She saw Wallen then pull his gun from his pocket and fired two shots.

Wallen Threatened Her, Witness Says.

Prosecutor Brookes asked the witness to step from the witness box to the court room floor beside him to indicate the distance between Wallen

CRISIS IN STRANGE CASE OF "LIVING DEAD MAN," SNATCHED FROM GRAVE BY ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION, EXPECTED WITHIN NEXT 12 HOURS

EVANSTON, Ill., March 10.—A slight improvement was noted in the condition of Albert Frick, the "living dead man," at 9:30 this morning.

"The palate is active and the pulse brisk," said Dr. Charles F. Reed. "It is a hopeful sign."

The ninety-sixth hour of Frick's paralysis, which automatically stopped his ability to breathe, found 56 fellow employes of the Public Service company of Illinois still working in shifts of two keeping him alive by artificial respiration.

Oxygen Revives Spark of Life.

Frick almost died in a relapse early today and only the hurried use of oxygen kept the faint spark of life glowing.

A crisis is expected within the next 12 hours.

"It is impossible to forecast the future," said Dr. Reed. "One might say that if artificial respiration is kept up and if the boy's heart does not give way, there is a fair chance of his recovering.

"On the other hand, if the paralysis does not retire there is nothing we can do. The men, of course, will keep up respiration in the boy just as long as the least spark of life remains, but it can't be kept up forever.

"Literally it is a question whether the paralysis or Frick's vitality holds out the longest. And no one can say to just what lengths any given person's vitality may be stretched."

Technically, "Died" Sunday.

Technically, from the standpoint of medical science, Frick "died" last Sunday morning when he ceased to breathe after being stricken with motor paralysis. The stroke affected the diaphragm and chest walls, making respiration impossible.

But young Frick—he is only 22 years old—was reclaimed to life by the quick action of a physician who induced artificial respiration by pressing the patient's sides, forcing air in and out of his lungs.

Since that time the youth has been kept alive by muscular young men, friends of young Frick, who work in teams of two men each and in shifts of 15 minutes.

Life Depends on 56 Friends.

Four famous specialists and a group of trained nurses, representing all the skill of medical science, stand by, baffled and helpless, while this untiring crew of unskilled men, inspired by the desire to save a human life, go about their task with mechanical precision.

There is a man on either side of the bed. The patient is propped up at an angle of 45 degrees. In perfect rhythm the men press the patient's sides, bellows fashion, forcing the life-giving air in and out of the lungs. They work for 15 minutes and then two other men take their place. Not a single beat is missed. Should they cease for a minute the patient would die.

The physicians direct their labors and check on the patient's condition. There is little else they can do. Frick's life depends on the brawn of his 56 friends rather than the skill and intelligence of the specialists.

Infection from Teeth Blamed.

The physicians are hoping that the paralysis will in time disappear and that normal functioning of the respiratory organs may be resumed. Indications last night were that this was coming about. Frick has been so paralyzed that he could not swallow nor talk. Shortly before midnight he was able to swallow a little liquid nourishment and whisper a few words of thanks to the loyal friends who are fighting to bring him back to health.

Frick was stricken after he had two teeth extracted. It is believed an infection caused the paralysis. Physicians believe that if Frick can be kept alive until this infection runs its course, he will survive. Dr. R. C. Brown, one of the specialists in attendance, said the infection should run its course in five days. That should bring Frick's case to a crisis sometime today.

Nature Doesn't Punish Her Any Longer

Menstruation is Nature—but menstrual pain is NOT natural, and not necessary. Science has conquered the painful part. In a harmless—yes, healthful—little tablet called midol.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes.

Don't have another day of fear, dread, quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress teh heart, is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in thin aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

Sudden draughts in a hot room cause stiffness

RELIEVES STIFFNESS CAUSED BY CHILL

Pressman tells how newspaper workers keep fit

The pressmen working in a newspaper office at Dorchester, Mass., used to have great trouble with rheumatic stiffness owing to frequent sudden draughts of cold air when the doors were opened to take in rolls of paper.

One of their number began using Sloan's Liniment and now they all chip in to keep Sloan's always on hand for the entire shop.

"After my day's work I rub a little Sloan's Liniment on my back and legs. It never fails."

Sloan's gives real help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause.

Apply gently, without rubbing. Right away you feel the comfortable, glowing warmth as the new blood is brought to the sore spots, and soon the aching stops. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

CHAPTER SIXTY.

Presently we arrived at a small village and the car stopped outside an inn. As it did so, a man dressed as a laborer got up from a table where he had been seated, drinking the white wine of the country, beneath a trellis of vine leaves, and approached the car, saying something to the Commissaire.

"Bien," replied that individual. "We are in time," he added, turning to me; "a closed car passed this way five minutes ago. It went down the road we are about to take and stopped. Doubtless it contained your friends."

We alighted from the automobile, and standing in the road, the Police Commissioner gave a series of sharp orders and to two others who had suddenly appeared.

He turned to me.

"You had better follow me, Monsieur," he said. "I shall effect the arrest personally, and you will be useful in identifying the prisoners. You will be good enough, however, to keep in the background so far as possible, and to refrain from exposing yourself, as it is, of course, essential that you should not be recognized."

I assented and prepared to follow him.

"We will proceed at once to the caves," he continued, "but we shall have to go on foot. They are not very far from here, and I don't want to take the auto any further for fear of arousing their suspicion."

We accordingly set off together down a straight road bordered on the left by a stone wall enclosing the garden or small park surrounding the local chateau, and on the right by a hedge from which sprang several tall poplars. The weather had cleared, and it was now a fine, dark night with a marvelous display of stars. Now that the moment was at hand, I found that my fatigue had vanished. I was burning with excitement. Would the Center and Claypole, alias Finckelstein, be there with such members of the gang as had been chosen to assist, or would Claypole have failed to lure that infamous, smiling Japanese into the trap laid for him? Well, I would soon be satisfied

We proceeded down the road for some hundred yards I walked beside the Police Commissioner, with four plain clothes detectives a few yards in the rear. We kept aboslute silence, and presently, at a sign from the commissioner, I and the four detectives crossed to the side of the road and walked in Indian file as close to the hedge as possible.

The road bore gradually away to the right and then began to descend. It had grown a little lighter in the last five minutes, and as we turned the corner, a gibbous moon appeared hanging in the night straight ahead of us, its rays faintly reflected on the tumbling waters of the Rhone, which I could just discern a quarter of a mile away to our right. After a moment or so the commissioner stopped and turning to me whispered:

"We cross the road here. There's a deep ravine on the other side and the road crosses it by a high stone viaduct which you can't see in the darkness. The caves are at the end of the ravine, fifty meters or so to this side of the viaduct, and the men who are watching them have been posted on the opposite side, concealed among the trees. Follow me, do exactly as I do, and don't make a sound."

As he finished speaking, he pressed something cold and hard into my hand. I felt it to be an automatic pistol of the heavy Mauser pattern carried by the Genevese police.

"Be careful," he warned me, "it is fully charged."

The feel of that cold weapon filled me with confidence, I had longed so desperately during the past week for something of a similar nature Now I had a means of defense, and inwardly resolved never to abandon it till danger from the gang was at an end.

Following the commissioner, we crossed the road, bending double so as to present no silhouette against the skyline. As we crossed it, I noticed a closed car standing by the right side, the bonnet pointing away from Geneva. It was without lights, and there was a man standing beside it who saluted as we went past and said something to the commissioner, pointing with his thumb to the interior of the car as he did so.

"They've arrested the chauffeur," said the commissioner to me. "He's handcuffed and inside the car."

"Splendid," I replied. "Is he a Japanese?"

"Yes."

Having crossed the road, we plunged into a deep and narrow gully and I soon found myself crawling cautiously after the commissioner down a very steep bank studded with trees and undergrowth. So far, all was well The chauffeur was a Japanese and the Center must have fallen into the trap I looked over my shoulder but saw no further sign of the detectives. Rustlings to my right and left, however showed me that they had spread out and were descending the side of the ravine in a line, about ten yards apart I stumbled on, the way growing darker at every step, till presently the commissioner, who was just ahead of me, laid a hand on my sleeve. I stopped and we both listened. Everything was utterly silent.

We were now at the bottom of the ravine. It was very narrow, and the opposite side sloped up equally steeply in front of us. Without a word the commissioner turned sharply to the right and walked down the center of the ravine, or rather moved from tree to tree. I followed him closely, halting every few yards to make sure that we were not observed. We proceeded about fifty yards, and the commissioner stopped finally. Turning to me, he put his mouth to my ear and whispered:

"Stay here, M. Quexter; the caves are about twenty yards further on, and he pointed to where a darker patch than the surrounding blackness showed on the side of the ravine a little way ahead. "Don't move," he went on, "till you hear the second whistle."

"Right," I answered, and he glided away.

I stayed there in an agony of impatience. I longed to follow him but dared not disobey his orders. It was his show. I was merely an onlooker.

I waited for what seemed an interminable length of time. The air was very still and, peering through the gloom, I could just distinguish some distance ahead, the vast shadowy outline of the great viaduct rising some eighty feet and carrying the road across the ravine. I suppose not more than five minutes could have passed as I stood there straining my ears to catch the slightest sound.

Suddenly the night air was torn by the piercing shriek of a police whistle. At the same instant the sound of undergrowth crackling and giving way before the passage of several heavy bodies was audible.

Some one dashed past me from behind, breathing heavily as he ran, and I saw that he was a gendarme in uniform. Then I saw the flash of an electric torch, and a moment later came a shout in French.

"Hands up! I arrest you in the name of the ——"

The rest of the sentence was drowned by a fusillade of shots fired obviously from an automatic pistol, and sounding, in that narrow, gloomy valley, like a burst of machine-gun fire Next there came a hoarse cry from the darkness in front of me, followed by more shots.

This was too much for me. I abandoned my post and plunged forward in the direction of the sound. I urged my way onwards, but in a few moments I rounded a large bush and at the same instant came into violent contact with a heavy body proceeding in the opposite direction. We crashed to the ground and rolled into the bush, the pistol being knocked from my hand.

I was underneath for a second and could do nothing, but the brush gave way beneath our weight and we fell again some two or three feet, twisting as we fell so that I came out on top. A voice from the darkness of the bush apprised me of the identity of my antagonist.

"Curse you," he swore in good round English.

Advertising In Newspapers

The public will not overlook the significance of the new advertising policy adopted by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. That great corporation, which in the past has advertised mainly in magazines, will now advertise almost entirely in newspapers.

This policy is applied not only with respect to household appliances, radio sets and equipment and other familiar articles of comparatively low cost, but with respect to industrial motors, street railway apparatus, railroad locomotives and generating stations.

The newspapers will be utilized for the whole range of Westinghouse products because the newspapers are universal in their range and appeal, because they are more flexible than any other publicity medium, because they permit at the same time national advertising and local advertising—in short, because they cover the field thoroughly and efficiently.

Experience has led to this change. The Westinghouse company knows what it is doing. Many another company, operating on a national scale, will do likewise, in order to get into direct touch with 100,000,000 consumers in a way that will suit its appeal to the spirit and needs of every community.

Chinese Nationalism

"All the combined power of the West," declared Senator Borah, when asked about conditions in China, "cannot shoot the newly awakened nationalism out of that county."

We should hope not.

The strangest thing about the recent Chinese situation has been the apparent efforts of the western powers to suppress the one thing needed by China to reanimate that vast country and make it fill a useful place in the world. And this in spite of the fact that the powers have always professed to desire the development of Chinese nationality.

Even America has seemed, by her acquiescence, to be helping in the wet-blanketing of Chinese aspirations.

What good can a dead China be to us? Do we want a national corpse fronting us across the Pacific, or a great, living democracy friendly to ours?

Misused Guns and Garages

As long as there are guns there will probably be accidental killings with guns which one person or another thinks not loaded. These will go on in spite of many warnings and tragic examples, because a few people in every community insist on being foolish.

In the same way, too, in spite of widespread warnings, people continue to kill themselves by running their automobiles in closed garages, thus surrounding themselves with the deadly fumes of carbon monoxide.

Here and there, through the world, there are people who do sometimes heed a timely warning. For their protection it is worth while to keep hammering away at fool things like the "unloaded" gun and the closed garage.

Valuable Straw Stacks

From a ton of wheat or oat straw John L. Harrison, an industrial chemist, has produced 1,600 pounds of useful products, including a roofing and damp-proofing substance, a new germicide and a fly spray. He says it is possible to run an automobile on straw gas.

"There is, indeed," he adds, "hardly any limit to the products that can be derived from straw by destructive distillation. If you offer me the grain or the straw, I will take the straw. Potentially, at least, it is the more valuable of the two."

Chemists are just find that out. Farmers will soon discover it. Hereafter there will be fewer straw stacks allowed to rot away. Farmers eventually will profit, life the Ford Motor company, from by-products unimagined a few years ago.

The Budgeting Wife

There is legal precedent now for asserting that the family budget is primarily the wife's business. A judge in Springfield, Mass., makes a court ruling to this effect, declaring that a wife should know best how to plan family expenditures, especially the marketing, and should be suppled with whatever money she needs for this purpose and left to her own devices.

Moreover, the judge upholds a wife's inalienable right to pin money. In this case he ordered a tight-fisted husband to give his wife $2 a week for herself, along with the money needed for family expenditures.

More judicial tyranny, of course!

Talking pictures would make more of a hit if there was any assurance that they would talk better than people.

Rapid progress in aviation is forecast. Soon we'll be falling all over ourselves to fly.

The person on trial was colored. He protested his innocence of the offense charged. But the jury, after listening to His Honor's instructions, found him guilty and the judge evidently convinced that there had been no miscarriage of justice, sentenced the convicted man to a long term of imprisonment at hard labor in state's prison.

The deputy sheriffs had manacled the malefactor and were taking him away when His Honor, face aflame with sudden indignation, halted the procession.

"Here!" he ordered. "Bring that man back here." The officers returned the handcuffed offender to the bar.

"What do you mean," demanded the irate judge, "by using profane language in connection with this court? How dare you curse me? I am strongly tempted to add five years more to your sentence."

"Jedge," pleaded the offender, "I didn't say nuthin' ag'in you."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

NEW YORK, March 10. —Night clubs, picking at the coverlet, are offering all sorts of excuses in their dying gasp. The 3 a. m. curfew law is chiefly blamed. Also the unwholesome—for them—publicity of regarding innocent pleasure lovers as suckers.

This has been their thinnest year since the boys came back from over there, and a soul sick nation plunged into an orgy of gaiety The decline came as they reached the peak of splendor, for never before were they so ornate and gaudy as this season

Many former bell-hops of Raines Law hotels lost their hefty bootlegging bankrolls trying to make an abandoned cellar or garage a haven for the elite. But the customer wouldn't come. Visiting buyers on the loose for the evening were tired of being dubbed "butter and egg" men.

The night club business really collapsed through ridicule. In other days it was considered smart to visit them. Later it became a symbol of supreme boobery. The cure is not at all difficult and doubtless will be shortly remedied.

New York's daily barrage of transients demand gaiety and those who can cater to this desire with good food and music at reasonable prices will likely prosper. But The Big Gouge has ended and ordinary respectability will triumph. The pirating night club is dead.

The impertinence of night clubs actually laughing at patrons began with hat-snatchers at the doorway and reached the crescendo with hostesses hailing them merrily with "Hello sucker!" Those so brazenly gyped tired of being kidded.

Peculiarly enough the night clubs thought the election of Mayor Walker would enhance their sway, but the closing order he sponsored was a blow that helped to untruss them. Those who know say that the top cover price next winter will be $2.

That an increasing number of New York men use perfume is indicated by a firm doing a thriving business on the West Side catering to masculine trade. And a glance at any smart dining room is convincing enough that many youths are addicted to marcels, permanents and facials. Actors, stage musicians and sheiks comprise the bulk of such customers.

As an ink stained wretch who has been nurtured amid the varying horrendous smells of the print shop I welcome perfumes for men. There is a war hero who actually clinks if he wears his medals and who reeks with perfume when he appears in public.

There is a sightless beggar on lower Broadway who, when a coin is dropped in his cup by a woman, will say "Thank you, lady," and to a man, "Thank you, sir," although he never sees them or hears their voices. He says it is "unexplainable intuition."

And Blind George recognizes patrons at his newspaper hutch on a Bryant Park corner by their voices He has been able to recognize them after an absence of two years.

I have observed for some time time those playwrights and magazine satirists whose sole gift has been to fire shafts of ridicule at popular notions of the great middle class—such as advertising slogans, booster organizations, tabloid newspapers, radio and other harmless pruriency—do not last long. They fizzle out and as a rule go back to the middle class jobs from which they were called. The explanation is doubtless that none of us care to see a joke carried too far and that ridicule often uncovers rare virtues. The state of Kansas never amounted to shucks until it became the target for national kidding.

Physical Educators To Meet.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10 - Stressing the importance of physical education in the public schools and colleges, the eastern section of the American Physical Education Association will hold its annual meeting in Washington, March 30-April 2. Ten days later, on April 13-16, the national convention of the organization will be held at Des Moines, Iowa.

More than a thousand members are expected at the Washington gathering, and an even larger number at Des Moines. Physical instructors see a rapidly growing field for members of their profession, and they are doing everything in their power to hasten the growth. One of their main objectives is legislation that will make physical education compulsory in all the public schools of the country, and their leaders say that the time is not far distant when that will have been accomplished.

At the Washington convention one of the interesting features will be the music of the Ford Musicians, from Dearborn, Mich. Henry Ford, when he is not engrossed in the business of putting the world on wheels, or conducting a model railroad or coal mine or proving to farmers that they work too hard and not intelligently enough, and when he is not rehabilitating ancient inns, indulges himself in a musical and dancing fad. He wants to see old-fashioned dances revived and popularized so that they will supersede the Charleston, the Black Bottom, and other modern eccentricities.

Ford has an orchestra that furnishes the music for these dances of the Victorian Era, and it will be here for the coming session of the convention. There will also be a dancing instructor to assist those to whom the Virginia reel, the schottische, the lancers, the polka, the square dance, and the like, are nothing more than names The physical instructors are especially interested in this, for they are teaching dancing more and more in this day and age, but they are not permitted to teach the more bizarre of the modern dances.

Received By Coolidge.

The delegates to the convention will be received by President Coolidge at noon on Friday, April 1, at the White House, and in the afternoon they will go out to Fort Myer, Virginia, to see the famous monkey drill given by the cavalry troop there.

The principal speakers at the convention will be Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington University, and Dr. William Davidson, superintendent of the Pittsburgh schools. Dr. Frank Ballou, who heads the educational forces of the District of Columbia, will deliver the welcoming address.

Members of the association devote a great deal of effort and discussion to keep physical education free of fads These fads fall naturally into two groups, they say. In the first are those that have no reasonable basis in physiology or in interest psychology, such, for example, as breathing exercises through a silver tube. When bankers and professional men pay $20 for a ten-cent tube through which they may breathe with the window open as they often do, instead of sifting and warming the air through their noses, as is the normal way, according to the editor of the American Physical Education Review they have adopted a fad which is profitable to the salesmen of the ten-cent tube, but unhygienic for the user.

The reducing of the weight of growing girls to an artificial standard regardless of inherited tendencies and present needs is another fad without a reasonable basis.

The second group of fads, admitted to be more dangerous, are those that are taught by intelligent physical education teachers. Over-emphasis or exclusion of fundamental phases of physical education is said to be one of the great present evils.

Health should be a by-product of physical activity, not the main objective. A few monotonous big muscle movements could furnish the essential muscular needs for health. Interest in specific activities such as golf, tennis, swimming, and handball is the great incentive rather than fear of illness, and during the first 15 years of life the normal child of organic soundness should acquire as large a variety of muscle skill as possible.

The first big muscle accomplishment of the child is in learning to balance on both feet in standing, and on one foot in walking. The later preschool years add to this elementary skill abilities in running, jumping climbing and throwing, and during the first seven to nine years of school

The public will not overlook the significance of the new advertising policy adopted by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. That great corporation, which in the past has advertised mainly in magazines, will now advertise almost entirely in newspapers.

This policy is applied not only with respect to household appliances, radio sets and equipment and other familiar articles of comparatively low cost, but with respect to industrial motors, street railway apparatus, railroad locomotives and generating stations.

The newspapers will be utilized for the whole range of Westinghouse products because the newspapers are universal in their range and appeal, because they are more flexible than any other publicity medium, because they permit at the same time national advertising and local advertising—in short, because they cover the field thoroughly and efficiently.

Experience has led to this change. The Westinghouse company knows what it is doing. Many another company, operating on a national scale, will do likewise, in order to get into direct touch with 100,000,000 consumers in a way that will suit its appeal to the spirit and needs of every community.

Chinese Nationalism

"All the combined power of the West," declared Senator Borah, when asked about conditions in China, "cannot shoot the newly awakened nationalism out of that county."

We should hope not.

The strangest thing about the recent Chinese situation has been the apparent efforts of the western powers to suppress the one thing needed by China to reanimate that vast country and make it fill a useful place in the world. And this in spite of the fact that the powers have always professed to desire the development of Chinese nationality.

Even America has seemed, by her acquiescence, to be helping in the wet-blanketing of Chinese aspirations.

What good can a dead China be to us? Do we want a national corpse fronting us across the Pacific, or a great, living democracy friendly to ours?

Misused Guns and Garages

As long as there are guns there will probably be accidental killings with guns which one person or another thinks not loaded. These will go on in spite of many warnings and tragic examples, because a few people in every community insist on being foolish.

In the same way, too, in spite of widespread warnings, people continue to kill themselves by running their automobiles in closed garages, thus surrounding themselves with the deadly fumes of carbon monoxide.

Here and there, through the world, there are people who do sometimes heed a timely warning. For their protection it is worth while to keep hammering away at fool things like the "unloaded" gun and the closed garage.

Valuable Straw Stacks

From a ton of wheat or oat straw John L. Harrison, an industrial chemist, has produced 1,600 pounds of useful products, including a roofing and damp-proofing substance, a new germicide and a fly spray. He says it is possible to run an automobile on straw gas.

Music Show "That's My Baby" Is Hit At Strand Theatre

Of all the musical shows that have come this way this season, the show this week at the Strand might as well be set down as the best one of them all. Here is a show that has twenty people and they are all fast workers. All the singers have good voices, the dancers are better than usual and the chorus of youthful, pretty girls is the best that we have set eyes upon this season. Eastwood Harrison owner and principal comedian of "That's My Baby" is an artist and a manager. He certainly knows how to put these shows together. The comedies are all lively ones, clean and wholesome comedy is dispensed in a rapid fire manner and one vaudeville specialty follows another in rapid succession. Last night's big crowd that completely filled the Strand, enjoyed this show immensely. Today they are presenting Circus Days.

There will be another complete change in the entire program for Friday and Saturday.

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

THE expectant mother's comfort and well being is very important. And one of the most important things for her to do is to use Mother's Friend to keep the skin and muscles soft and pliable—thus aiding the tissues and muscles to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood. Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. No woman awaiting the joy of motherhood should allow the days to pass without using Mother's Friend.

Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

Mother's Friend is safe for you to use because it contains no harmful drugs and is applied externally.

MOTHER SOBS AS ROY WALLEN VISITS DEATH SCENE

ACCUSED MAN'S WIFE MEETS HIM IN WELLSVILLE

Murder Trial Jurors go to Ogle Home in East Salineville.

DOG ON DOORSTEP

Faithful Canine Seemingly Awaits Return of Slain Master.

Greeted by his sobbing mother as he arrived in Sheriff George Wright's automobile, Roy Wallen, accused of the slaying of Rodney Ogle, yesterday afternoon returned to the doorstep of the Ogle home in East Salineville, accompanied by 13 members of the jury before whom he will be tried in common pleas court, Lisbon.

Wallen also was accompanied by his young wife who, however, did not remain with the group for the inspection of the premises. She continued on to the Hammond home, some distance away, and returned when the jury was retracing its path to the railroad.

The jurors went to the murder scene on the 3:45 p. m. train out of Wellsville, stopping at "Ogle's cut" under special order of Pennsylvania Railroad officials. They returned on the train leaving Salineville at 5:45.

A little mongrel dog, the same dog that lay between Ogle's outstretched legs when the gun victim's body was found by neighbors on the night of February 6, provided the only sign of life as the jury, prisoner and county officials reached the house. The dog's ears lifted and its nose went into the air as the party approached. It surveyed each member of the group intently, and then trotted dejectedly out of view over a nearby hill.

Unable to gain entrance to the house through the door, Sheriff Wright was forced to pry a 12-inch board off a window frame. J. A. Rich, of Salem, the first juror impaneled in the case, climbed through the window and, inside removed a shovel that had been propped against the door.

The two rooms, kitchen and "sitting room" were unkempt. A few dirty dishes were there and several hard bread rolls.

In an old galvanized bucket on the floor as a grocer's paper sack containing a few winter onions. The two women jurors showed amazement at the condition of the house once called a home.

In the "sitting room" was an open sleeping couch. A few bed covers were on the couch. The back of the couch showed a film of mold. An alarm clock, on the arm of the couch, was silent.

The jurors were asked to make various observations at the request of the Prosecuting attorney, R. M. Brookes, including situations inside the house nad location on the outside.

Wallen was in charge of Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter, a chain of probably a yard in length being attached to the pair of handcuffs. Husband and wife chatted on the train as they were outbound and inbound.

"I used to work at East Liverpool," Wallen said to this newspaper. "The first job I had was with Herb Bailey when he run a welding shop in Rural Lane. After that I went to work on the railroads.

"My half-brother, George L. Davis, lives at East Liverpool and works on the street car line, and when our family went to East Liverpol, my stepfather, who had been employed by the Singer Sewing Machine company, at Hamilton, O., was transferred to East Liverpool and put in charge of the office there. That's when I went with the Bailey shop. I don't know where my first wife is. I've never heard."

Mrs. Davis, the mother of Wallen, and who resides at Covington, Ky., wept when she greeted her son as he sat in the car of Sheriff Wright.

IRONDALE SEEKS FIRE PROTECTION

Plans for the improvement of Irondale's fire fighting facilities were discussed at a meeting of the Irondale Civic club last night in the high school gymnasium.

Talks were given by J. A. Fickafus, of the Ohio inspection bureau, who has been surveying conditions in the territory, and C. W. Arnold, of Wellsville.

Several methods of bettering conditions have been considered by the civic club, including the installation of a water system, to take advantage of the natural resources that the community boasts in this line, and the purchase of chemical equipment.

However, as a preliminary step, the club urges citizens to clean up around their property, clean out chimneys and other flues and remove as many firehazards as possible.

Last night's session took the form of a "ladies' night" meeting, with wives and guests of members in attendance. A social hour followed the business session. Luncheon was served.

A public entertainment is being planned for the latter part of March.

ATTORNEY QUAYLE ENGAGED TO WED

Announcement was received here today of the engagement of Attorney Walter C. Quayle, of Akron, son of Mr and Mrs. Sherman Quayle, of Center street, Wellsville, and Miss Elizabeth Holloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Holloway, of Akron.

Formal announcement of the engagement was made at a party held recently at the Holloway residence, Bowery street, at the close of a dinner-bridge party, attended by 16 guests. The ceremony will take place early in the summer.

Miss Holloway is a graduate of West High school, attended Akron university and received her degree in home economics at Ohio State university. She has been teaching in Akron for two years.

Attorney Quayle attended Ohio State university. He belongs to the Sigma Phi Sigma law fraternity and is a member of the Masonic lodge and the University club in Akron.

HOMEWORTH MAN DIES OF RABIES

Funeral services for William G. Walker, 53, former resident of Homeworth, Columbiana county, who died in the Alliance City hospital, as the result of rabies, were conducted today in the Alliance Christian church. Burial was made in Mt. Union cemetery.

Walker was bitten by a pet dog on December 1, 1926. The injury seemingly healed, but last Friday night he became ill. A physician diagnosed the case as rabies and ordered his removal to the hospital.

Walker was employed at the Morgan Engineering plant, Alliance, where he has resided for about 28 years. He was a deacon in the Christian church. He leaves his widow, one son, one daughter and three brothers.

CROWD ATTENDS REVIVAL MEET

A large audience last night heard Rev. William Grafton, of Follansbee, W. Va., preach at the Free Methodist church.

His topic was "The Greatest Sin in the Ohio Valley." Neglect, he pointed out, could be classified as one of the greatest sins.

"Necessity of Preparation Before We Meet the Lord" will be discussed by Rev. Grafton tonight.

DRIVER ACCUSED IN AUTO DEATH

As an aftermath of the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, former resident of East Liverpool, who was struck by an automobile at the corner of Main street and Broadway, Salem, Sunday night, Thomas Cadwallader, president of the Salem Chattel Mortgage company, and driver of the car, was held for the grand jury by Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, upon a manslaughter charge, yesterday afternoon. His bond was fixed at $5,000, which Cadwallader furnished.

Eleven witnesses, who testified at the inquest, estimated the speed of Cadwallader's automobile at the time of the accident at 35 to 50 miles per hour. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney H. H. Hickling, retained by Byron Williams, son of the accident victim, assisted by Solicitor Cecil Scott, Salem. The coroner held that Cadwallader was violating the speed laws at the time of the crash, even though he had the green block in the traffic light which gave him the right of way.

Cadwallader will face Mayor George Russell upon a charge of speeding on Wednesday, March 16. He is at liberty under $100 bond upon this charge.

Funeral srevices for Mrs. Williams were conducted in the MacLean funeral home, Wellsville, yesterday. Burial was made in the Clarkson cemetery.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler's sermon was a continuation of the solo number, "The Ninety and Nine."

An illuminated cross will be used at tonight's service, when Dr. Fowler will preach on the subject, "The Cross in Christian Experience." A program by the children will be presented Friday night, "Young People's Night."

would see millions of Americans that like him.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB, able business man, leaving Europe, says he is never going back. Also, he knows he is getting old, "because I am losing the thrill of gambling." That is not a sign of getting old, only a sign of getting wise. The wonder is that as able a man as Schwab should ever have found a thrill in gambling.

Gamblers substitute false excitement for real achievement. Men that are real doers are rarely gamblers and men that have no serious occupation are gamblers nearly always.

All savages and few philosophers gamble.

DR. JAMES A. BEEBEE, president of Allegheny college, says Protestants are constantly being told to pray, but are not told how to pray. He advises them to use a rosary, and with its aid to concentrate thought on prayer, "holding the mind to the meditation at hand."

Dr. Beebee, formerly head of the school of theology at Boston university, says everything should be made practical and definite.

Tibetans and other eastern peoples use a prayer wheel. You pay so much to the priestly attendant, go your way, and he will grind out the prayers you order. But, of course, there is no merit in such haphazard praying.

THE supreme court decides unanimously that Texas' law forbidding Negroes to vote at Democratic primaries is unconstitutional. It is a most important decision, and not to the south only, since it may mean federal control over local primaries.

MOTHER SOBS AS ROY WALLEN VISITS DEATH SCENE

ACCUSED MAN'S WIFE MEETS HIM IN WELLSVILLE

Murder Trial Jurors go to Ogle Home in East Salineville.

Faithful Canine Seemingly Awaits Return of Slain Master.

Greeted by his sobbing mother as he arrived in Sheriff George Wright's automobile, Roy Wallen, accused of the slaying of Rodney Ogle, yesterday afternoon returned to the doorstep of the Ogle home in East Salineville, accompanied by 13 members of the jury before whom he will be tried in common pleas court, Lisbon.

Wallen also was accompanied by his young wife who, however, did not remain with the group for the inspection of the premises. She continued on to the Hammond home, some distance away, and returned when the jury was retracing its path to the railroad.

The jurors went to the murder scene on the 3:45 p. m. train out of Wellsville, stopping at "Ogle's cut" under special order of Pennsylvania Railroad officials. They returned on the train leaving Salineville at 5:45.

A little mongrel dog, the same dog that lay between Ogle's outstretched legs when the gun victim's body was found by neighbors on the night of February 6, provided the only sign of life as the jury, prisoner and county officials reached the house. The dog's ears lifted and its nose went into the air as the party approached. It surveyed each member of the group intently, and then trotted dejectedly out of view over a nearby hill.

Unable to gain entrance to the house through the door, Sheriff Wright was forced to pry a 12-inch board off a window frame. J. A. Rich, of Salem, the first juror impaneled in the case, climbed through the window and, inside removed a shovel that had been propped against the door.

The two rooms, kitchen and "sitting room" were unkempt. A few dirty dishes were there and several hard bread rolls.

In an old galvanized bucket on the floor as a grocer's paper sack containing a few winter onions. The two women jurors showed amazement at the condition of the house once called a home.

In the "sitting room" was an open sleeping couch. A few bed covers were on the couch. The back of the couch showed a film of mold. An alarm clock, on the arm of the couch, was silent.

The jurors were asked to make various observations at the request of the Prosecuting attorney, R. M. Brookes, including situations inside the house nad location on the outside.

Wallen was in charge of Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter, a chain of probably a yard in length being attached to the pair of handcuffs. Husband and wife chatted on the train as they were outbound and inbound.

"I used to work at East Liverpool," Wallen said to this newspaper. "The first job I had was with Herb Bailey when he run a welding shop in Rural Lane. After that I went to work on the railroads.

"My half-brother, George L. Davis, lives at East Liverpool and works on the street car line, and when our family went to East Liverpol, my stepfather, who had been employed by the Singer Sewing Machine company, at Hamilton, O., was transferred to East Liverpool and put in charge of the office there. That's when I went with the Bailey shop. I don't know where my first wife is. I've never heard."

Mrs. Davis, the mother of Wallen, and who resides at Covington, Ky., wept when she greeted her son as he sat in the car of Sheriff Wright.

IRONDALE SEEKS FIRE PROTECTION

Plans for the improvement of Irondale's fire fighting facilities were discussed at a meeting of the Irondale Civic club last night in the high school gymnasium.

Talks were given by J. A. Fickafus, of the Ohio inspection bureau, who has been surveying conditions in the territory, and C. W. Arnold, of Wellsville.

Several methods of bettering conditions have been considered by the civic club, including the installation of a water system, to take advantage of the natural resources that the community boasts in this line, and the purchase of chemical equipment.

However, as a preliminary step, the club urges citizens to clean up around their property, clean out chimneys and other flues and remove as many firehazards as possible.

Last night's session took the form of a "ladies' night" meeting, with wives and guests of members in attendance. A social hour followed the business session. Luncheon was served.

A public entertainment is being planned for the latter part of March.

ATTORNEY QUAYLE ENGAGED TO WED

Announcement was received here today of the engagement of Attorney Walter C. Quayle, of Akron, son of Mr and Mrs. Sherman Quayle, of Center street, Wellsville, and Miss Elizabeth Holloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Holloway, of Akron.

HOMEWORTH MAN DIES OF RABIES

Funeral services for William G. Walker, 53, former resident of Homeworth, Columbiana county, who died in the Alliance City hospital, as the result of rabies, were conducted today in the Alliance Christian church. Burial was made in Mt. Union cemetery.

Walker was bitten by a pet dog on December 1, 1926. The injury seemingly healed, but last Friday night he became ill. A physician diagnosed the case as rabies and ordered his removal to the hospital.

Walker was employed at the Morgan Engineering plant, Alliance, where he has resided for about 28 years. He was a deacon in the Christian church. He leaves his widow, one son, one daughter and three brothers.

CROWD ATTENDS REVIVAL MEET

A large audience last night heard Rev. William Grafton, of Follansbee, W. Va., preach at the Free Methodist church.

His topic was "The Greatest Sin in the Ohio Valley." Neglect, he pointed out, could be classified as one of the greatest sins.

"Necessity of Preparation Before We Meet the Lord" will be discussed by Rev. Grafton tonight.

DRIVER ACCUSED IN AUTO DEATH

As an aftermath of the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, former resident of East Liverpool, who was struck by an automobile at the corner of Main street and Broadway, Salem, Sunday night, Thomas Cadwallader, president of the Salem Chattel Mortgage company, and driver of the car, was held for the grand jury by Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, upon a manslaughter charge, yesterday afternoon. His bond was fixed at $5,000, which Cadwallader furnished

Eleven witnesses, who testified at the inquest, estimated the speed of Cadwallader's automobile at the time of the accident at 35 to 50 miles per hour. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney H. H. Hickling, retained by Byron Williams, son of the accident victim, assisted by Solicitor Cecil Scott, Salem. The coroner held that Cadwallader was violating the speed laws at the time of the crash, even though he had the green block in the traffic light which gave him the right of way.

Cadwallader will face Mayor George Russell upon a charge of speeding on Wednesday, March 16. He is at liberty under $100 bond upon this charge.

Funeral srevices for Mrs. Williams were conducted in the MacLean funeral home, Wellsville, yesterday. Burial was made in the Clarkson cemetery.

Bad Stomach Made Her Arms Yellow

"I had indigestion so bad that my hands and arms turned yellow, and if it had not been for Adlerika, I think I should have died. There is nothing better for indigestion."—Mrs. Mary Hannaford.

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In East Liverpool at the Economy Drug Store and other druggists.

'CROSS' SERMON TOPIC TONIGHT

Special Feature at Methodist Episcopal Services Tonight.

"Sunday School Night" was observed last night at evangelistic services in the First Methodist Episcopal church. More than half of the middle block of seats in the church auditorium was filled with a delegation of men.

Prof. Frederick Balmond, Philadelphia, song evangelist, led the musical program. Illustrated songs were rendered by the choir. Balmond sang "The Ninety and Nine," this number being illustrated with group slides reproducing master paintings. Classes of the Sunday school had a part in the service.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler's sermon was a continuation of the solo number, "The Ninety and Nine."

An illuminated cross will be used at tonight's service, when Dr. Fowler will preach on the subject, "The Cross in Christian Experience." A program by the children will be presented Friday night, "Young People's Night."

would see millions of Americans that like him.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB, able business man, leaving Europe, says he is never going back. Also, he knows he is getting old, "because I am losing the thrill of gambling." That is not a sign of getting old, only a sign of getting wise. The wonder is that as able a man as Schwab should ever have found a thrill in gambling.

Gamblers substitute false excitement for real achievement. Men that are real doers are rarely gamblers and men that have no serious occupation are gamblers nearly always.

All savages and few philosophers gamble.

DR. JAMES A. BEEBEE, president of Allegheny college, says Protestants are constantly being told to pray, but are not told how to pray. He advises them to use a rosary, and with its aid to concentrate thought on prayer, "holding the mind to the meditation at hand."

Dr. Beebee, formerly head of the school of theology at Boston university, says everything should be made practical and definite.

Tibetans and other eastern peoples use a prayer wheel. You pay so much to the priestly attendant, go your way, and he will grind out the prayers you order. But, of course, there is no merit in such haphazard praying.

THE supreme court decides unanimously that Texas' law forbidding Negroes to vote at Democratic primaries is unconstitutional. It is a most important decision, and not to the south only, since it may mean federal control over local primaries.

RIN-TIN-TIN AT AMERICAN

Excellent Cast Appears in "Hills of Kentucky."

The attraction announced by the American theatre for today, Friday and Saturday is the Warner Bros. production of "Hills of Kentucky" starring Rin-Tin-Tin and directed by Howard Bretherton.

The story concerns a dog known as "the Grey Ghost" and his pack of outlaw dogs and wolves who have become so feared and hated that a large reward has been offered for him. One day the Grey Ghost is badly injured and is befriended by Davy, a little cripple boy whose sister is the new school teacher.

Steve and Ben Harley, half brothers of very unlike disposition, are courting the girl. Steve has greater success and Ben takes the opportunity of shooting Steve when "The Grey Ghost" is near him. Steve is brought to the school teacher's house. This gives Ben a chance to start a nasty insinuation going among the receptive countryfolk, and it is not long until they will not allow their children to go to the school. With the help of "The Grey Wolf", this situation is remedied and the girl's attempted abduction by Ben is thwarted.

Rheumatism?

You Must Get Quick Relief or Money Back Says Mathews Med. Store.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenrhu, the enemy of rheumatism, does not show the way to ease the agony, help reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished often in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the sufferer was almost helpless

Druggists everywhere guarantee it as above in every instance

Haskin's Letter

Health Sought Only When Lost.

Free exercises, calisthenics, and dancing are listed as essential aids in teaching bodily skills in standing and moving equilibrium, and it is stated that these should be taught with the acquirement of physical skill as the prime object. Health is to be sought only when it has been lost.

The team games and competitive athletics should come in the secondary school after the fundamentals have been learned. The elements of these team games, it is stated, can be begun in the sixth to eighth grades, and actual skill accomplishment in the elements of the game should precede the playing of the game. Varsity coaches, it is pointed out, spend most of their time in teaching the individual skills of the games and little time in playing the games, and physical instructors are admonished to profit by the coaches' example. Physical ignorance and lack of skill breed distaste for leisure time activities and fill the movie theatres and the bleachers.

The acquirement of a considerable variety of specific abilities should result from a well-rounded school curriculum, and present curriculums are criticised as tending to run too much to fads. It secures too meager results in actual accomplishment. This error is charged against institutions preparing physical instructors and the literature of the subject that is being published. Some schools are said to over-emphasize games, others dancing others formal gymnastics, others Danish gymnastics. The need is for an all around preparation that will secure varied interesting activities on the part of children and later during adult life joyous leisure-time hobbies.

Most of the teachers contend that they should not separate administration of physical education and health education in any school system. Their reasons for this are that if separate supervision is given there will be duplication, questionable results, misunderstandings, a great deal of friction and lost motion, and overemphasis of some features and neglect of others

What may be considered a typical outline for physical and health education programs, it is said, would include medical inspection, school nursing, daily inspection by classroom teacher, dental hygiene, teaching of hygiene, physical training, special corrective classes, games, and athletics

ESSEX is a SUPER-SIX

And it differs from all other "Sixes"—not by little margins—but bold, vivid advantages that instantly stand out from all comparison.

Here is 50 miles an hour all day long, with ease to car and comfort to passengers. (Yet that is far below its maximum speed.)

Here is size, generous passenger room, simple, positive controls. No car of any price excels its easy riding qualities.

Here is economy, engineered not only to savings in fuel and oil, but particularly to freedom from early depreciation, and to lowest maintenance costs.

It is not merely that Essex easily matches large, high-priced cars in comfort. It is not only its speed, its quickness at the getaway or its easy mastery of the hills. Its charm is the combination of these qualities with a flying smoothness in action, and a responsiveness that heeds the lightest touch.

You may rarely use its over-capacity. But you do want the ability it gives. It avoids countless strains. It means ordinary driving, imposes no strain on motor or other mechanism. In every situation it means a better, more durable and lasting car.

There are five new bodies on the Essex Super-Six chassis—beautiful, smart in line, luxurious in upholstery and appointment. They are the greatest and deservedly most popular values Essex ever built.

RIN-TIN-TIN AT AMERICAN

Excellent Cast Appears in "Hills of Kentucky."

The attraction announced by the American theatre for today, Friday and Saturday is the Warner Bros. production of "Hills of Kentucky" starring Rin-Tin-Tin and directed by Howard Bretherton.

The story concerns a dog known as "the Grey Ghost" and his pack of outlaw dogs and wolves who have become so feared and hated that a large reward has been offered for him. One day the Grey Ghost is badly injured and is befriended by Davy, a little cripple boy whose sister is the new school teacher.

Steve and Ben Harley, half brothers of very unlike disposition, are courting the girl. Steve has greater success and Ben takes the opportunity of shooting Steve when "The Grey Ghost" is near him. Steve is brought to the school teacher's house. This gives Ben a chance to start a nasty insinuation going among the receptive countryfolk, and it is not long until they will not allow their children to go to the school. With the help of "The Grey Wolf" this situation is remedied and the girl's attempted abduction by Ben is thwarted.

life, children should be taught to enlarge their use of these fundamental physical skills which are the basis of health and bodily enjoyment.

Health Sought Only When Lost.

Free exercises, calisthenics, and dancing are listed as essential aids in teaching bodily skills in standing and moving equilibrium, and it is stated that these should be taught with the acquirement of physical skill as the prime object. Health is to be sought only when it has been lost.

The team games and competitive athletics should come in the secondary school after the fundamentals have been learned. The elements of these team games, it is stated, can be begun in the sixth to eighth grades, and actual skill accomplishment in the elements of the game should precede the playing of the game. Varsity coaches, it is pointed out, spend most of their time in teaching the individual skills of the games and little time in playing the games, and physical instructors are admonished to profit by the coaches' example. Physical ignorance and lack of skill breed distaste for leisure time activities and fill the movie theatres and the bleachers.

The acquirement of a considerable variety of specific abilities should result from a well-rounded school curriculum, and present curriculums are criticised as tending to run too much to fads. It secures too meager results in actual accomplishment. This error is charged against institutions preparing physical instructors and the literature of the subject that is being published. Some schools are said to overemphasize games, others dancing, others formal gymnastics, others Danish gymnastics. The need is for an all around preparation that will secure varied interesting activities on the part of children and later during adult life joyous leisure-time hobbies.

Most of the teachers contend that they should not separate administration of physical education and health education in any school system. Their reasons for this are that if separate supervision is given there will be duplication, questionable results, misunderstandings, a great deal of friction and lost motion, and overemphasis of some features and neglect of others.

What may be considered a typical outline for physical and health education programs, it is said, would include medical inspection, school nursing, daily inspection by classroom teacher, dental hygiene, teaching of hygiene, physical training, special corrective classes, games, and athletics

U. S. Court Ruling May Mean End of Rural "Speed Traps"

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A revision of the law codes of six states will be necessary because of the supreme court's decision that local "fee courts" wherein judges' pay is dependent upon conviction of law violators, are unconstitutional.

The court's decision applied directly to the Ohio law, described as being the most flagrant, but it also is applicable to some degree in Nebraska, Kentucky, Arkansas, North Carolina and Georgia, where there are similar statutes.

The decision is expected to wipe out to some extent rural "speed traps" and generally diminish judicial "tyranny" in rural districts.

Fee-splitting Fight

failed to reach an agreement relative to a site for the proposed new state office building.

During consideration of the Ward bill, providing for purchase of a site in South Front street, on the East bank of the Scioto river, in the new Columbus civic project, the committee voted as follows: That the building be erected on the state house compus, 8; that the South Front street site be purchased, 2. Six members of the committee did not vote. Nine members constitute a majority of the committee which was 16 members.

The senate committee on state building today decided to recommend passage of the Herbert bill, authorizing purchase by the state of the South Front street site for the proposed state office building. The bill provides for a direct state tax levy of 1-5 of a mill, over a period of two years, estimated to yield approximately $5 000,000, to be used in purchasing the site and erecting the proposed structure.

To Name Assistant Clerk.

Salaries for Mayors.

Decision has been reached by the senate and house judiciary committees, it was announced today, to recommend passage of identical bills, by Representative J. E. Roberts, Youngstown, and Representative D. S. Ingalls, Cleveland, decreeing that mayors shall be aid straight salaries, fixed by council.

Friends of the measure claimed that, if enacted into law, it will remedy the situation resulting from the recent U. S. supreme court decree invalidating the statutory provision compensating mayors from fines collected from liquor law violators.

The bill provides that mayors shall submit reports, the first of each month, to council showing the amount of fines collected, including liquor law cases, and decreeing that this money shall be all turned into the respective municipal treasuries.

The special committee chosen in the senate to draft a proposed legislative program dealing with taxation measures and appropriation bills will meet tonight, Senator Bolton, Republican floor leader, announced this afternoon.

Other Senate Bills.

The senate is asked to concur in the action of the house which passed the following bills:

By Anderson, Stark county, limiting the jurisdiction of mayors and justices of the peace in Stark county outside of Canton, in civil cases, and by Norton, Cuyahoga, authorizing boards of education to contract with private corporations, not for profit for the purpose of obtaining, for school districts, instruction along special lines.

Government Scores Second Victory in H. F. Sinclair Trial

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Battering down the opposition at every turn, the government won its second important victory in the Harry F. Sinclair contempt trial today when Justice Hitz denied the defense the privilege of submitting to the jury voluminous evidence offered in mitigation of the oil man's refusal to answer certain questions before the senate Teapot Dome investigating committee.

The court held that while the evidence might be offered for the guidance of the court in its instructions to the jurors it could not be presented in the presence of the 12 men who are to determine the fate of the multi-millionaire oil man.

This new and unexpected turn of the proceedings made it certain that the trial would extend into another week.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 10. — The upward movement of the speculative leaders was carried to slightly higher levels in early trading today as the result of an aggressive buying wave which swept over the market and embraced a wide variety of industrial and railroad shares.

The motor stocks and many of the high-priced specialties pushed through to new high price levels for the year on extremely heavy trading, in which blocks of 5,000 shares of stocks frequently changed hands. The bullish pools continued their "drive" against the shorts in General Motors, Hudson Motors, Wabash and other recordmakers, and the commission houses reported a considerable volume of short covering in this section of the market.

Steel and copper stocks were well bought as also were the equipment stocks and the sugars.

The "merger" railroad shares jumped into the limelight, with Kansas City Southern and Wabash leading an active, if not brilliant, forward movement. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh moved up three points to 114¾, completing a gain of about 26 points since the directors declined to extend their leasing agreement with Delaware & Hudson. Oil stocks were again irregular.

"Barracks Widow" Denies Charges of Soldier-husband

CLEVELAND, O., March 10.—The "wilful absence" with which her soldier-husband, Captain Herman N. Archer, U. S. A., military instructor in Princeton University, charged her in his divorce petition was denied in the answer of Mrs Anna Laura Archer, 1052 Geary street, San Francisco, on file in common pleas court here today.

Mrs. Archer was married to Captain Archer, then a private in the army, in 1902, in San Jose, Cal., she asserts. For 22 years she lived the life of a "barracks' widow," following her husband from one corner of the globe to another, as he saw military duty in the Orient, Latin America, and various posts in the United States. Eventually she became ill, and was unable to follow him any longer, she asserts.

The answer also reveals Archer as the hero of one of Richard Harding Davis' novels, "Captain Macklin," and as co-author of a 1925 best seller, "Mr. Archer, U. S. A."

Wallen Defense Hit

and Ogle at the time the shots were fired. This the witness did, indicating a space of about a foot.

The witness then went back to her chair and related that her brother, Paul, was standing beside her, outside of the door of the house, when the shooting took place. She said that Wallen first struck Ogle in the breast, causing him to reel toward the wall where a rifle was hanging by the support of several nails. Ogle, at no time while she was there, had any weapon in his hand or made any move to get one, she said.

After the shooting she testified that her sister got a match and went outside the kitchen door to see if Ogle were dead and that she and her brother were standing on the dirt road.

Wallen, she said, then came out and said, "I've shot Ogle, and he's going to die and they will hang me. I'll shoot myself."

She swore that Wallen then took a gun from the wall and fired a shot and that as they were walking away she heard another shot. Mrs. Householder said that Wallen then put a gun in her face and said: "Did you see Ogle shoot first?" and I was so scared I said "yes," she swore.

Witness Cross-Examined.

Attorney O'Grady then took the witness for cross-examination and to a question as to whether or not she ever tried to separate Wallen and his wife by saying to her sister, "You would be better off without him," the witness replied, "No, I didn't."

She repeated under cross-examination that she arrived at the Ogle home at 7 o'clock the night of February 6, that it was dark and there were two oil lamps burning in the house. She said her sister took a lamp into the sitting room with Mr. Ogle to hunt for a photograph, and that there was a gun hanging on the wall in the sitting room. She testified she first saw this gun when Wallen knocked Ogle against the wall. At that time her sister was sitting in the room, crying.

"I don't know what made her cry; we never had any trouble," Mrs. Householder said. "And I never tried to separate my sister from her husband."

She declared that Ogle tried to get her sister to stop crying and that Wallen had told her to stop crying or he would make her ears bleed. At that time she said her sister was on the floor screaming and that her brother, Paul, was in the kitchen. Wallen, she said, picked his wife up by the neck and said "If you don't behave I'll kill you," and then Ogle said, "O, don't do that!" Wallen then struck Ogle three times, the witness said.

"I moved toward the door," she said, "when Ogle told Wallen if he wanted to fight to get out. I went out first, and I didn't move until after the second shot. Ogle was standing in the kitchen when the first shot was fired, she said.

Mrs. Householder said then that she and her brother ran, from the Ogle home to the McGarry home, about a mile away, and that later her sister and Wallen came over to the McGarrys house. She said the McGarrys wanted her sister to stay there that night, but Wallen said, "She's my wife, we'll go home."

Paul Lagara's Ttestimony.

Paul Lagara testified to a similar story which a cross-fire of questions by Attorney Crawford failed to shake.

Lagara testified he saw some beer on the table and that Ogle was passing it around. The youth said that when he and his sister were in the McGarry home, his sister, Angeline, arrived, Wallen was with her.

Lagara said that Wallen struck Ogle twice. Under cross-examination by attorney Crawford, the witness testified that before they left the Ogle home Wallen said to him and his sister, "You saw Ogle fire the first shot."

Suppose you read about that Kentucky woman who is bringing suit against some guy for stealing 100 kisses. Seems to us it took her a long time to wake up to the fact she was being robbed.

Mr. Krug tells us about somebody he knew who took a ride a short time ago on one of those sight-seeing busses out in San Francisco. When they reached a big hill the man with the megaphone requested the passengers to hold their grips in their hands to lighten the load. Everybody did! Then as the grade got steeper, he asked them to stand up. And everybody did! What would you have done? So would we.

We know a lot of homes here in East Liverpool that have waste room in the attic. By using SHEETROCK, one or more mighty attractive rooms could be made in the attic. The cost would be small. Think that little idea over.

Here's our view on the tax question: What we pay is too much, and what other people pay is not enough. What's your view?

Mr. Bailey tells us this happened in one of our local stores. A lady asked to "see the thinnest thing you have in silk hose, and they brought out the cashier.

Relief work is being carried on in an energetic manner, but it has only begun.

Many refugees are ill because of exposure, according to advices received today.

TOKIO, March 10.—The situation in the areas devastated by the recent earthquakes and subsequent fires was still extremely acute day.

With transportation still badly crippled, the task of getting supplies to the affected areas is surrounded with many difficulties.

The menace of starvation is still prevalent.

There are at least 80,000 persons to be cared for in the provinces rocked by th tremblor.

The entire nation is rallying to the aid of the survivors of the catastrophe. Money, food, clothes and medical supplies have been concentrated at various points and are awaiting transportation mediums.

The Sanin railroad has been repaired and relief trains today were arriving from Miyazu.

Dr. Ito of the sixteenth arm division, in charge of three groups of nurses and doctors, was speeding to Kyoto today from this city. Another special train leaving here carried 50,000 blankets and 4,000 sacks of rice.

Hundreds of injured refugees are still without medical aid. With storms raging in the Sanin district, their plight is made even more miserable.

Troops of the regular army are cooperating with prefecture authorities in giving what aid they can. The soldiers are building barracks, putting up tents and dispensing available food supplies. Others are going about the grim task of digging bodies from the ruins of the destroyed villages and towns.

U. S. Court Ruling May Mean End of Rural "Speed Traps"

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A revision of the law codes of six states will be necessary because of the supreme court's decision that local "fee courts" wherein judges' pay is dependent upon conviction of law violators, are unconstitutional.

The court's decision applied directly to the Ohio law, described as being the most flagrant, but it also is applicable to some degree in Nebraska, Kentucky, Arkansas, North Carolina and Georgia, where there are similar statutes.

The decision is expected to wipe out to some extent rural "speed traps" and generally diminish judicial "tyranny" in rural districts.

failed to reach an agreement relative to a site for the proposed new state office building.

During consideration of the Ward bill, providing for purchase of a site in South Front street, on the East bank of the Scioto river, in the new Columbus civic project, the committee voted as follows: That the building be erected on the state house campus, 8; that the South Front street site be purchased, 2. Six members of the committee did not vote. Nine members constitute a majority of the committee which was 16 members.

The senate committee on state building today decided to recommend passage of the Herbert bill, authorizing purchase by the state of the South Front street site for the proposed state office building. The bill provides for a direct state tax levy of 1-5 of a mill, over a period of two years, estimated to yield approximately $5 000,000, to be used in purchasing the site and erecting the proposed structure.

To Name Assistant Clerk.

The Republican members of the senate this afternoon, in caucus, are expected to select Edward P. Gibson, Columbus, to succeed Joseph Cross, Columbus, resigned as assistant senate clerk. The position pays $3.000 a year. Gibson, a World-war veteran, has been an examiner for the state civil service commission during the past six years.

Salaries for Mayors.

Decision has been reached by the senate and house judiciary committees, it was announced today, to recommend passage of identical bills, by Representative J. E. Roberts, Youngstown, and Representative D. S. Ingalls, Cleveland, decreeing that mayors shall be paid straight salaries, fixed by council.

Friends of the measure claimed that, if enacted into law, it will remedy the situation resulting from the recent U. S. supreme court decree invalidating the statutory provision compensating mayors from fines collected from liquor law violators.

The bill provides that mayors shall submit reports, the first of each month, to council showing the amount of fines collected, including liquor law cases, and decreeing that this money shall be all turned into the respective municipal treasuries.

The special committee chosen in the senate to draft a proposed legislative program dealing with taxation measures and appropriation bills will meet tonight, Senator Bolton, Republican floor leader, announced this afternoon.

Other Senate Bills.

The senate is asked to concur in the action of the house which passed the following bills:

By Anderson, Stark county, limiting the jurisdiction of mayors and justices of the peace in Stark county outside of Canton, in civil cases, and by Norton, Cuyahoga, authorizing boards of education to contract with private corporations, not for profit for the purpose of obtaining, for school districts, instruction along special lines.

Sinclair contempt trial today when Justice Hitz denied the defense the privilege of submitting to the jury voluminous evidence offered in mitigation of the oil man's refusal to answer certain questions before the senate Teapot Dome investigating committee.

The court held that while the evidence might be offered for the guidance of the court in its instructions to the jurors it could not be presented in the presence of the 12 men who are to determine the fate of the multi-millionaire oil man.

This new and unexpected turn of the proceedings made it certain that the trial would extend into another week.

Steel and copper stocks were well bought as also were the equipment stocks and the sugars.

The "merger" railroad shares jumped into the limelight, with Kansas City Southern and Wabash leading an active, if not brilliant, forward movement. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh moved up three points to 114¾, completing a gain of about 26 points since the directors declined to extend their leasing agreement with Delaware & Hudson. Oil stocks were again irregular.

BREAKS PRISON TO SEE BABES

Carl Nichols, 30, of New Orleans, La., after six years in a Michigan prison and three months on a Louisiana prison farm on another sentence, escaped to see his children. Their mother had married again. He had never seen the younger child. Nichols suffered great hardships in getting to them — then surrendered. Above are pictures of Nichols' children, Mary and Henry Lee, and Nichols.

"Barracks Widow" Denies Charges of Soldier-husband

CLEVELAND, O., March 10.—The "wilful absence" with which her soldier-husband, Captain Herman N. Archer, U. S. A., military instructor in Princeton University, charged her in his divorce petition, was denied in the answer of Mrs Anna Laura Archer, 1052 Geary street, San Francisco, on file in common pleas court here today.

Mrs. Archer was married to Captain Archer, then a private in the army, in 1902, in San Jose, Cal., she asserts. For 22 years she lived the life of a "barracks' widow," following her husband from one corner of the globe to another, as he saw military duty in the Orient, Latin America, and various posts in the United States. Eventually she became ill, and was unable to follow him any longer, she asserts.

The answer also reveals Archer as the hero of one of Richard Harding Davis' novels, "Captain Macklin," and as co-author of a 1925 best seller, "Mr. Archer, U. S. A."

Wallen Defense Hit

and Ogle at the time the shots were fired. This the witness did, indicating a space of about a foot.

The witness then went back to her chair and related that her brother, Paul, was standing beside her, outside of the door of the house, when the shooting took place. She said that Wallen first struck Ogle in the breast, causing him to reel toward the wall where a rifle was hanging by the support of several nails. Ogle, at no time while she was there, had any weapon in his hand or made any move to get one, she said.

After the shooting she testified that her sister got a match and went outside the kitchen door to see if Ogle were dead and that she and her brother were standing on the dirt road.

Wallen, she said, then came out and said, "I've shot Ogle, and he's going to die and they will hang me. I'll shoot myself."

She swore that Wallen then took a gun from the wall and fired a shot and that as they were walking away she heard another shot. Mrs. Householder said that Wallen then put a gun in her face and said: "Did you see Ogle shoot first?" and I was so scared I said "yes," she swore.

Witness Cross-Examined.

Attorney O'Grady then took the witness for cross-examination and to a question as to whether or not she ever tried to separate Wallen and his wife by saying to her sister, "You would be better off without him," the witness replied, "No, I didn't."

She repeated under cross-examination that she arrived at the Ogle home at 7 o'clock the night of February 6, that it was dark and there were two oil lamps burning in the house. She said her sister took a lamp into the sitting room with Mr. Ogle to hunt for a photograph, and that there was a gun hanging on the wall in the sitting room. She testified she first saw this gun when Wallen knocked Ogle against the wall. At that time her sister was sitting in the room, crying.

"I don't know what made her cry; we never had any trouble," Mrs. Householder said. "And I never tried to separate my sister from her husband."

She declared that Ogle tried to get her sister to stop crying and that Wallen had told her to stop crying or he would make her ears bleed. At that time she said her sister was on the floor screaming and that her brother, Paul, was in the kitchen. Wallen, she said, picked his wife up by the neck and said "If you don't behave I'll kill you," and then Ogle said, "O, don't do that!" Wallen then struck Ogle three times, the witness said.

"I moved toward the door," she said, "when Ogle told Wallen if he wanted to fight to get out. I went out first, and I didn't move until after the second shot. Ogle was standing in the kitchen when the first shot was fired, she said.

Mrs. Householder said then that she and her brother ran from the Ogle home to the McGarry home, about a mile away, and that later her sister and Wallen came over to the McGarry house. She said the McGarrys wanted her sister to stay there that night, but Wallen said, "She's my wife, we'll go home."

Paul Lagara's Ttestimony.

Paul Lagara testified to a similar story which a cross-fire of questions by Attorney Crawford failed to shake.

Lagara testified he saw some beer on the table and that Ogle was passing it around. The youth said that when he and his sister were in the McGarry home, his sister, Angeline, arrived, Wallen was with her.

Lagara said that Wallen struck Ogle twice. Under cross-examination by attorney Crawford, the witness testified that before they left the Ogle home Wallen said to him and his sister, "You saw Ogle fire the first shot."

Then as the grade got steeper, he asked them to stand up. And everybody did! What would you have done? So would we.

FIRST SHOWING OF NEW NASH BODY DESIGNS

Attractive New Models Feature Nash Auto Display.

THREE-DAY SHOW

Event is First of Its Kind Held in City.

Following the sensational debut of the Ambassador and Cavalier models, Nash now discloses for the first time two entirely new models of the same general character in design but priced so as to appeal to an even wider market. These two new enclosed cars are named the "Special" Sedans. One is mounted on the Advanced Six chassis while the other is on the Special Six series.

Though the unique body design which is the pre-eminent point of interest about these two new "Special" models is distinctly an original Nash conception it possesses an European air that is magnetically attractive. Their classically graceful contours and the French-type back illustrate this foreign note vividly.

Judged by the sensational enthusiasm which greeted their predecessors, the Ambassador and the Cavalier, these two "Special" models will win immediate public favor. The originality displayed in their design and the superb artistry of their craftsmanship emphasizes the great strides Nash has taken toward establishing its product as the authentic style maker for the industry.

With respect to the color dress of these two new models Nash has provided another feature of important interest. The finish of the Advanced Six "Special" Sedan is an exquisite new shade of gray-green which contrasts richly with the gleaming black of running gear and upper structure. The window reveals are also done in gray-green. The disc wheels are gray-green and like the deeper green body moldings carry a double stripe in gold.

For the "Special" sedan on the Special Six chassis a lustrous blue has been employed for the body and wheels. The body molding is black, as are the running gear and upper structure. Blue is the tone used in the double striping of both the wheels and the molding. And the window reveals have the blue tone.

An examination of the interior reveals again the extent to which Nash has gone in providing fittings and appointments luxurious quality. Both models display genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet upholstery, deeply tufted and tone in a soft gray, and the steering wheel of each is fashioned of real walnut. Also the inside window moldings and door panels are of walnut finish with a contrasting ivory stripe in the door panels. To complete the harmony of the interior ensemble the instrument board is of walnut finish as is true of the crowned panel directly above the instrument board.

These two new models, like all other Nash models are powered with the big Nash 7-bearing motor, known as the ultra modern motor and the world's smoothest type. Though a more expensive type of power-plant to build the 7-bearing motor is vastly superior in performance to the standard prevailing 3 or 4-bearing type of motor. That Nash not only has endowed the "Special" models with vital advantages in the way of beauty and luxury but also as regards superlative performance, smoothness and quietness. Throughout the extreme range of speed and power of this motor the evenness and silence of the power-flow is a revelation.

Among a great array of further important mechanical attractions these new "Special" models include insulation of the motor by rubber motor supports; an oil "screen" agitator; thermostatic motor control; crankcase "breather;" double-beam headlights; full force feed lubrication; oil purifier; gas filter; air cleaner; hydrostatic gasoline gauge; 4-wheel mechanical type brakes of special Nash design; and 5 disc wheels.

MINERS' PICKS MAKE ROUGH GRAVE FOR ONCE COUNTESS MINOTTO

CROWN KING, Ariz.—Though princes of the royal blood paid tribute to the fame and beauty of Countess Agnes Minotto in the days when, as leading woman of the Imperial Theatre, Berlin, she was the toast of continental Europe, only a handful of veteran hard-rock miners of this isolated mountain town were in her funeral cortege to mourn at her bier.

Messages of condolence from numerous friends in Europe and America poured in upon her only son, James former C[illegible] Minotto, of Italy, when the telegraph wires flashed the news of the sudden death of the countess here from heart disease, but not even her closest friends in this newly adopted land of her's could be present at the grave for a raging snowstorm that effectually blocked all traffic in and out of Crown King fall throughout the day of her funeral.

So, with pick, drill and shovel, and carrying the casket upon their shoulders, the miners braved the elements fought through the blinding snow, and while the sorrowing son and a lone priest kept vigil, bored and blasted into the granite heart of one of her beloved mountains, until they had carved a space for her final sleep.

Countess Minotto was the widow of Count Demetrious Minotto, of Rome, who died in 1926.

BRITISH CRUISER TRIP TO NICARAGUAN PORT SCORED

"PART OF DEEP GAME," CHARGE BY SHIPSTEAD

Minnesota Senator Suggests Purpose of Voyage.

AIDS U. S. POLICY

No Intention to Defy Monroe Doctrine.

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 10.— "Is Great Britain's dispatch of the cruiser 'Colombo' to Nicaraguan waters a threat against the Monroe Doctrine?" asks Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota.

"Pooh!" he replies. "Great Britain disavows any such intention and undoubtedly disavows it sincerely. Nevertheless, the 'Colombo's' presence off Nicaragua gives the state department an excuse to plead that the United States must intervene in the new world's troubles or other powers will intervene to protect their own nationals, thus violating the Monroe Doctrine.

"The obvious effect is to strengthen the state department's position with the American people in such situations as that in Nicargua."

Senator's View.

"Why this British policy of helpfulness toward the state department? Well, the British are playing a very deep game. If this game facilitates the state department's plans in situations which do not concern Great Britain, as in Nicaragua, Great Britain may conceivably expect the state department to favor British plans in other fields which do concern her—shall we say, for instance, in China?

"Another consideration, doubtless, is that such United States' methods as those used in Nicaragua antagonize all Latin-America against this country, with damage to our friendly relations, political prestige and trade throughout the entire family of republics to the southward. Whatever we lose in this respect is so much gain to Europe, including Great Britain.

"Is it not natural for the British to make it as easy as possible for the state department to pursue a policy whereby they gain at our expense?

"A Pretext," He Says.

"As for Great Britain's claim that her nationals in Nicaragua might need a cruiser as a refuge, that evidently is the merest pretext. The trouble in Nicaragua was an old story long before the 'Colombo's' dispatch to Corinto was suggested. When the Colombo' finally was ordered thither, United States' marines already fully dominated the situation and were giving full protection to all foreign lives and property as well as citizens of the United States there.

"Thus, the only genuine occasion for the presence of British forces in Nicaraguan waters would be the deliberate intention to defy the Monroe Doctrine, which is too silly a theory for serious consideration."

Department's Answer.

While no individual official of the state department would make any comment on Senator Shipstead's assertions, the division of current information of the state department presents this as the administration's side of the case:

"At the outset the British government left the Nicaraguan situation exclusively to the United States, presumably because it considered the latter protecting everybody and British nationals then were not particularly insistent. Later, British residents began demanding protection under their own flag, with increasing urgency. On Feb. 15, the British charge d' affairs at Managua asked President Diaz of Nicaragua for guarantees. The United States gave assurances of protection, but avoided the word 'guarantees' as implying indemnification in event of loses.

Ambassador's Statement.

"Subsequently, Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, informed the state department the British contemplated sending a cruiser. Then, that they had reluctantly decided to send it. He emphasized that no landing was intended, but that the cruiser was intended simply for rescue purposes in the event of danger."

References to the Monroe doctrine are studiously avoided by the state department. But it is abundantly clear on both sides that no violation was intended or suspected. Moreover, the state department not only has never attempted to impress this country with the notion that the Doctrine is threatened for foreigners unless the United States protects their interests But the department has emphasized that the Doctrine is not an issue in this case.

Even though the 'Colombo' is unnecessary at Corinto, it is the department's impression that the British prefer protection under their own flag to any other, just as Americans prefer theirs when endangered anywhere abroad.

SLATER CHECKS STORY TOLD IN MELLETT PLOT

Detective Seeks to Substantiate Mazer Confession.

MAY VISIT PAT

McDermott and Rudner to be Interviewed in Penitentiary.

CANTON, O., March 10.—Detective Ora Slater of Cincinnati today was continuing his efforts to substantiate the story told by Louis Mazer, alleged conspirator in the Don Mellett murder, of July 16, last.

Mazer's story was given to the Stark county grand jury Tuesday and made public for the first time.

Several police officers, who were on the Canton force at the time of the Mellett slaying, were mentioned in Mazer's statement as being "the higher ups" who knew that an "editor was to be mauled," on the night of July 15, 1926.

In order to check more thoroughly on Mazer's "immunity-confession" Slater may visit Pat McDermott, who Mazer claims, was the "triggerman, and who is now serving a life sentence following his conviction of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Mellett.

Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective, awaits arraignment for his alleged complicity in the crime. The arraignment is scheduled for next Monday.

If Slater makes the trip to the penitentiary it i probable he will question Ben Rudner, also, it was stated here today by those close to the investigator. Rudner was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the conspiracy.

Reports that Mayor S. M Swarts of Canton had started a probe all of his own, in connection with Mazer's revelations could not be confirmed here at noon today. If Swarts intends an independent investigation he had not started it at mid-day.

Doll Carey, known in Canton as "Louise Mazer's sweetheart," is out of the city and her present whereabouts are unknown, according to authorities. She is wanted for questioning.

Only one of the police officers involved in Mazer's story is still on the Canton force, it was learned. The others were dismissed following the Mellett murder.

BRITISH CRUISER TRIP TO NICARAGUAN PORT SCORED

"PART OF DEEP GAME," CHARGE BY SHIPSTEAD

Minnesota Senator Suggests Purpose of Voyage.

AIDS U. S. POLICY

No Intention to Defy Monroe Doctrine.

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 10.— "Is Great Britain's dispatch of the cruiser 'Colombo' to Nicaraguan waters a threat against the Monroe Doctrine?" asks Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota.

"Pooh!" he replies. "Great Britain disavows any such intention and undoubtedly disavows it sincerely. Nevertheless, the 'Colombo's' presence off Nicaragua gives the state department an excuse to plead that the United States must intervene in the new world's troubles or other powers will intervene to protect their own nationals, thus violating the Monroe Doctrine.

"The obvious effect is to strengthen the state department's position with the American people in such situations as that in Nicargua."

Senator's View.

"Why this British policy of helpfulness toward the state department? Well, the British are playing a very deep game. If this game facilitates the state department's plans in situations which do not concern Great Britain, as in Nicaragua, Great Britain may conceivably expect the state department to favor British plans in other fields which do concern her—shall we say, for instance, in China?

"Another consideration, doubtless, is that such United States' methods as those used in Nicaragua antagonize all Latin-America against this country, with damage to our friendly relations, political prestige and trade throughout the entire family of republics to the southward. Whatever we lose in this respect is so much gain to Europe, including Great Britain.

CERAMIC BOOKS GREAT DRAMA

Willard Mack Will Appear in "Honor Be Damned!"

Willard Mack is one of the very few modern dramatists who casts aside all conventional methods of play construction, who adheres to no particular system of human opinions, but lancet keeness dissects his problems of life with the surety and authority of one who is absolutely familiar with the theme which he is projecting by histrionic visualization. Mack is a past master in the science of dramaturgy; he knows the value of a pause; the significence of a look; the duration of a substantial situation; the responsibility of lighting a scene or diminishing an incident, and is an absolute practical man of the theatre who can write, act, construct, and embellish any avenue of activity utilized for dramatic reflection.

In his newest play, "Honor Be Damned!" which will be at the Ceramic theatre, March 16, he is said to have taken a certain phase of political life as viewed through the spectacles of a prominent political attorney in New York city who, during the past few years, has been conspicuously in the public gaze upon the front pages of the newspapers, and woven it into a drama of splendid weight and proportion.

The story is said to be intensely interesting with a strong comedy relief and a few dramatic surprises, such as only Willard Mack can write.

The supporting company is exceptionally capable, and includes that splendid actor William Courtleigh whose histrionic achievements have been identified with some of the finest traditions of the American stage. Ruth King, Ethel Grey Terry, Beatrice Banyard, Lizzie McCall, Huron L. Blyden, Thomas F. Tracey, George Cleveland, Harry English, Carl Gerard, and Harry Joyner are also prominently in evidence in the large original cast.

The production is promised to be artistically colorful and effective.

French Professor Explains Cause Of Old Age

HOW FOLKS PAST 40 MAY HELP RENEW YOUTHFUL STRENGTH, "PEP" AND ENERGY

That the vigor of our internal organs, gives the most accurate measure of our health and length of life is the opinion of Dr. Edouard Retterer, Professor the Academy of Medicine of Paris. He attributes the principal cause old age to the failure of the glands to normally create sufficient internal secretion, without which, they soon stop working properly and the body becomes filled with poisons. But now that Science has found a way to produce a vitalizing internal exercise of the glands and organs by the marvelous restorative Radium power of ARIUM tablets, signs of weakness and advancing years often quickly give way to renewed strength, youthful energy and vigorous activity.

William B. Kleist of Washington says: "I have been taking ARIUM Tablets for a general run-down condition, nervousness, stomach trouble, kidney and bladder trouble and many other ailments. I had tried doctors and patent medicines and everything failed but ARIUM. It has wrought a wonderful change in my condition." C. A. Bates of Plainville, Conn., writes: "I have taken only two boxes of ARIUM Tablets, but it has helped my nerves and vitality very much."

If you suffer from prostate gland inflammation, kidney trouble, torpid liver, bladder weakness or high blood pressure, with a consequent lack of FORCE and NERVE ENERGY, you owe it to yourself to try ARIUM at once. A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. Lame back, rheumatic twinges and aches, dizziness, pains in the head, sour stomach, frequent getting up nights, embarrassing nervous weakness and other distressing middle age ailments may rapidly become a thing of the past. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM, guarantees successful and satisfactory results in every case from its progressive use, or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as Chas. T. Larkins, Carnahan's, Hercher's Drug Store, and Mathews.

CERAMIC BOOKS GREAT DRAMA

Willard Mack Will Appear in "Honor Be Damned!"

Willard Mack is one of the very few modern dramatists who casts aside all conventional methods of play construction, who adheres to no particular system of human opinions, but lancet keeness dissects his problems of life with the surety and authority of one who is absolutely familiar with the theme which he is projecting by histrionic visualization. Mack is a past master in the science of dramaturgy; he knows the value of a pause; the significence of a look; the duration of a substantial situation; the responsibility of lighting a scene or diminishing an incident, and is an absolute practical man of the theatre who can write, act, construct, and embellish any avenue of activity utilized for dramatic reflection.

In his newest play, "Honor Be Damned!" which will be at the Ceramic theatre, March 16, he is said to have taken a certain phase of political life as viewed through the spectacles of a prominent political attorney in New York city who, during the past few years, has been conspicuously in the public gaze upon the front pages of the newspapers, and woven it into a drama of splendid weight and proportion.

The story is said to be intensely interesting with a strong comedy relief and a few dramatic surprises, such as only Willard Mack can write.

The supporting company is exceptionally capable, and includes that splendid actor William Courtleigh whose histrionic achievements have been identified with some of the finest traditions of the American stage. Ruth King, Ethel Grey Terry, Beatrice Banyard, Lizzie McCall, Huron L. Blyden, Thomas F. Tracey, George Cleveland, Harry English, Carl Gerard, and Harry Joyner are also prominently in evidence in the large original cast.

The production is promised to be artistically colorful and effective.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamines that make flesh, create appetite, build up the power to resist disease and puts good solid flesh on skinny men and women.

But it's repulsive in taste and smell and nearly every stomach rebels against it.

So now men and women who keep up with the times are taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—rich in flesh producing, health building, strength creating vitamines and as easy to take as candy.

Try them for 30 days if you want to fill out those scrawny hollows in chest, cheeks and neck and gain strength and vigor. And bear this in mind if they don't help you in that time any druggist anywhere will return your money—But demand McCoy's 60 tablets 60 cents.

French Professor Explains Cause Of Old Age

HOW FOLKS PAST 40 MAY HELP RENEW YOUTHFUL STRENGTH, "PEP" AND ENERGY

That the vigor of our internal organs, gives the most accurate measure of our health and length of life is the opinion of Dr. Edouard Retterer, Professor the Academy of Medicine of Paris. He attributes the principal cause old age to the failure of the glands to normally create sufficient internal secretion, without which, they soon stop working properly and the body becomes filled with poisons. But now that Science has found a way to produce a vitalizing internal exercise of the glands and organs by the marvelous restorative Radium power of ARIUM tablets, signs of weakness and advancing years often quickly give way to renewed strength, youthful energy and vigorous activity.

William E. Kleist of Washington says: "I have been taking ARIUM Tablets for a general run-down condition, — nervousness, stomach trouble, kidney and bladder trouble and many other ailments. I had tried doctors and patent medicines and everything failed but ARIUM. It has wrought a wonderful change in my condition." C. A. Bates of Plainville, Conn., writes: "I have taken only two boxes of ARIUM Tablets, but it has helped my nerves and vitality very much."

If you suffer from prostate gland inflammation, kidney trouble, torpid liver, bladder weakness or high blood pressure, with a consequent lack of FORCE and NERVE ENERGY, you owe it to yourself to try ARIUM at once. A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. Lame back, rheumatic twinges and aches, dizziness, pains in the head, sour stomach, frequent getting up nights, embarrassing nervous weakness and other distressing middle age ailments may rapidly become a thing of the past. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM, guarantees successful and satisfactory results in every case from its progressive use, or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as Chas. T. Larkins, Carnahan's, Herche's Drug Store, and Mathews.

Do this, and then see how cool and comfortable your feet immediately become. Just feel how the smarting, irritating foot agony rapidly disappears. And best of all, notice that the relief you get is real and lasting.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

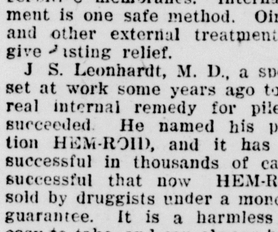
To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Original Cut Rate, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr Edwards Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. . . How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.



Correct the Cause to End Catarrh!

To get rid of catarrh you must remove the cause.

Catarrh is the result of inflamed mucous membranes—the delicate linings of nose, throat and head. These must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation reduced. Then catarrh disappears; catarrhal bad breath and catarrhal deafness vanish. This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. It has brought relief to thousands.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your druggist's. He will tell you it is the most effective treatment he has known in over 40 years. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

WHEN YOUR FOOD FAILS TO DIGEST

And Gurgles up in Sour Risings or Heartburn

Try a little diapepsin. Beats the world for stomach comfort. Hard to tell what upsets a stomach. Sometimes it's milk or fresh bread or steak and onions. Almost anything will cause gas, biliousness or heartburn. But whatever it is diapepsin works like magic. It actually digests food, rests the stomach, absorbs the sour, acid, brashy risings from whatever cause. Even in the morning, if you get up with a coated tongue, feel nauseated and the thought of breakfast repels food, one or two diapepsins will make you feel good and want to eat.

Anyone at the mercy of restaurants and lunch counters can fortify their stomach against trouble with one or two diapepsins after eating.

Get a 60 cent package of Pape's Diapepsin at any drug store. You'll enjoy the effect.

TO prove the ability of this Studebaker Custom Sedan, get behind the wheel yourself. Feel the power of its quiet L-head motor—most powerful in any car of its size and weight in the world. See how slowly you can idle along in high, how smoothly it accelerates, how lightning-quick it is on the pick-up, how easily it shoots through traffic, soars up steep hills and speeds arrow-swift down the free stretches.

Then turn the wheel over to your wife. And she will like the custom luxury of its roomy interior.

This smart-looking Studebaker steel body saves gasoline and tires because it's lighter than wood—safer because it permits wider visibility than wood—safer also because it has been fused by electricity into a practically indestructible unit of steel—welded, not riveted—and longer-lived because steel wears while wood wears out.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

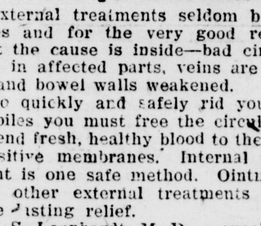
To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Original Cut Rate, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr Edwards Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. . . How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.



Correct the Cause to End Catarrh!

To get rid of catarrh you must remove the cause.

Catarrh is the result of inflamed mucous membranes—the delicate linings of nose, throat and head. These must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation reduced. Then catarrh disappears; catarrhal bad breath and catarrhal deafness vanish. This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. It has brought relief to thousands.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your druggist's. He will tell you it is the most effective treatment he has known in over 40 years. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

WHEN YOUR FOOD FAILS TO DIGEST

And Gurgles up in Sour Risings or Heartburn

Try a little diapepsin. Beats the world for stomach comfort. Hard to tell what upsets a stomach. Sometimes it's milk or fresh bread or steak and onions. Almost anything will cause gas, biliousness or heartburn. But whatever it is diapepsin works like magic. It actually digests food, rests the stomach, absorbs the sour, acid, brashy risings from whatever cause. Even in the morning, if you get up with a coated tongue, feel nauseated and the thought of breakfast repels food, one or two diapepsins will make you feel good and want to eat.

Anyone at the mercy of restaurants and lunch counters can fortify their stomach against trouble with one or two diapepsins after eating.

Get a 5 cent package of Pape's Diapepsin at any drug store. You'll enjoy the effect.

Fohl Picks Senators And Athletics To Battle For Pennant

Says Macks Better On Paper But Nats Will Win On Field

By Davis J. Walsh.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—There are two clubs that figure to make the fight in the American league this season and neither of them is the Yankees or the Indians, who ran one-two in the 1926 race. This was the opinion expressed to the writer today by Lee Fohl, who saw his modicum of American league baseball as manager of the Cleveland and St. Louis ball clubs and didn't really get altogether out of touch with the major league situation until his last two years with the Boston Red Sox.

This may have been like sitting in the last row orchestra at the New York Hippodrome but, at that, the man who runs in front never sees much of the rest of the field. Mr. Fohl now is sitting in the first row balcony as manager of the Toronto champions of the International league, at present in earnest training here.

From this point of vantage, or otherwise, he has seen fit to call the turn on the American league race in this wise:

The Philadelphia Athletics as the best club on paper ,which gets one nothing; the Washington Senators as the best club on the ball field, which usually gets one everything; the champion New York Yankees to fight it out with the Detroit Tigers for third place and the Cleveland Indians at the head of the second division.

In short Mr. Fohl thinks the Senators will win the pennant providing they don't up and disappoint him, ball clubs being somewhat inconsiderate about things like that.

"Their only question mark, in my mind, is the pitchers who are to help out Johnson and Coveleski," Fohl said. "That pair will win more than 30 games between them and, if they get any help from the young fellows, the club can't go wrong.

"It can do about everything that a ball club should—bunt, drag the ball, hit to any field and run the bases. Speaker will help a lot, particularly in the early season, but it was quite a club, anyhow, fast, smart and game. And some of those young pitchers may come through. Crowder looked good late last year and Lisenbee, from Memphis, was the best pitcher in the minor leagues in 1926. Carroll, from Little Rock; Coffman and Jones, from Chattanooga; Hadley, from Birmingham; Kelly, out on option with the same club, and Van Alstyne, from Bridgeport, are better than average prospects.

"Yes, I like the Senators. The Athletics may look the part on paper but they are not the club to do the things on a ball field that the Senators can and will do. They will be lucky if they get more than 75 games each out of men like Cobb, Collins and Wheat.

"The Yankees and Tigers will be in there forcing the going all the way. They have the punch and you can't deny that sort of a club a place in my race. As for the Indians, they lost Speaker and got nothing in return. Another thing; they had five or six men playing above their heads last year. That was such a good break that it doesn't figure to be repeated. The Indians would do very well to finish in the first division but, in my humble opinion, they won't."

PETE LATZO IN FOR TOUGH BOUT

CHICAGO, March 10.—Experts in such matters and others who had a few dollars left after buying tickets, were laying bets at even money today that Joe Simonich, the 147-pounder from Butte, Mont., would whip Pete Latzo, welterweight champion of the world, in their ten-round match at Dexter park tonight.

Simonich created a favorable impression here by the serious manner in which he trained and the "stuff" he displayed against a Cleveland group of sparring partners. As Latzo's crown will not be at stake, Simonich will not worry about the result. He plans he says, to make a rushing fight of it and to end it as soon as possible. He has everything to win and little to lose.

Both men are in excellent condition. Latzo's infected lip no longer bothers him, and his hands are again in good shape.

Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, will meet Patsy Rocco, Chicago in the semi-windup.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If you were to attend a golf tournament or any other meet where top golfers were competing you would note one thing—that from lies off the edge of the green these players apparently always try to hole out the ball. Professionals even go up and survey the line when they are exploding the ball from a trap at the green. You might think such attempts to be assumptive, but the fact is the play from anywhere about the green should always be an effort to hole out. In the first place, you might hole out. In the second place the chances are that if you play for the cup— a definite objective—your ball will come to rest much nearer the pin than if you merely play for the green.

COLUMBIANA TO PLAY HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Plans for Postponed Game Completed by Teams.

MANAGER RAY ADAM, of the Elks' county league basketball club, today announced the completion of negotiations for the appearance of the Columbiana Boosters, their nearest rivals for second half honors, on the local court next Monday night for the play off of the game postponed from last week.

Tomorrow night's game with Salineville here, and the postponed tilt with Salem, scheduled for the Salem court, complete the Antlers' card for the season, exclusive of the championship series at the end of the season, should they be fortunate enough to finish at the top.

Columbiana is a half-game behind the Elks today as a result of their victory last night over Damascus at Columbiana. The score was 43 to 31. The Quakers were easy victims for "Boots" Hawkins and his gang, the score failing to show the margin of superiority. The Boosters did practically all of their scoring in the first three quarters, when they were out ahead by a count of at least 2 to 1 proportions. Then they eased up and coasted down the concluding quarter.

Dowd, Columbiana forward, led the scorers. He registered seven field goals and five fouls for a total of 19 points.

It was the last home game for the Boosters. Two more are on their schedule, the one here Monday night and one at Damascus.

The Salem-Salineville clash, billed for Salineville, was postponed, no date being decided upon for the play-off.

It was understood today that a meeting of the league may be called for Sunday at Lisbon although league officials had not definitely issued the order.

His temperature early today was 100 and his pulse had dropped to 98. He was perfectly rational and conversed for a few minutes with Manager Ray Schalk.

Mostil was able to take some orange juice, his first natural nourishment since his mad attempt to end his life.

This modern age discriminates —and smokes Camels

THIS age is the hardest to satisfy—it's the most discriminating age ever known. That's why it goes to Camel for cigarette enjoyment. It takes real tobacco to satisfy modern smokers and Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown, marvelously blended. Smokers of today are right in demanding Camels; no better cigarettes are made, regardless of price.

Fohl Picks Senators And Athletics To Battle For Pennant

Says Macks Better On Paper But Nats Will Win On Field

By Davis J. Walsh.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—There are two clubs that figure to make the fight in the American league this season and neither of them is the Yankees or the Indians, who ran one-two in the 1926 race. This was the opinion expressed to the writer today by Lee Fohl, who saw his modicum of American league baseball as manager of the Cleveland and St. Louis ball clubs and didn't really get altogether out of touch with the major league situation until his last two years with the Boston Red Sox.

This may have been like sitting in the last row orchestra at the New York Hippodrome but, at that, the man who runs in front never sees much of the rest of the field. Mr. Fohl now is sitting in the first row balcony as manager of the Toronto champions of the International league, at present in earnest training here.

From this point of vantage, or otherwise, he has seen fit to call the turn on the American league race in this wise:

The Philadelphia Athletics as the best club on paper ,which gets one nothing; the Washington Senators as the best club on the ball field, which usually gets one everything; the champion New York Yankees to fight it out with the Detroit Tigers for third place and the Cleveland Indians at the head of the second division.

In short Mr. Fohl thinks the Senators will win the pennant providing they don't up and disappoint him, ball clubs being somewhat inconsiderate about things like that.

"Their only question mark, in my mind, is the pitchers who are to help out Johnson and Coveleski," Fohl said. "That pair will win more than 30 games between them and, if they get any help from the young fellows, the club can't go wrong.

"It can do about everything that a ball club should—bunt, drag the ball, hit to any field and run the bases. Speaker will help a lot, particularly in the early season, but it was quite a club, anyhow, fast, smart and game. And some of those young pitchers may come through. Crowder looked good late last year and Lisenbee, from Memphis, was the best pitcher in the minor leagues in 1926. Carroll, from Little Rock; Coffman and Jones, from Chattanooga; Hadley, from Birmingham; Kelly, out on option with the same club, and Van Alstyne, from Bridgeport, are better than average prospects.

"Yes, I like the Senators. The Athletics may look the part on paper but they are not the club to do the things on a ball field that the Senators can and will do. They will be lucky if they get more than 75 games each out of men like Cobb, Collins and Wheat.

"The Yankees and Tigers will be in there forcing the going all the way. They have the punch and you can't deny that sort of a club a place in my race. As for the Indians, they lost Speaker and got nothing in return. Another thing; they had five or six men playing above their heads last year. That was such a good break that it doesn't figure to be repeated. The Indians would do very well to finish in the first division but, in my humble opinion, they won't."

PETE LATZO IN FOR TOUGH BOUT

CHICAGO, March 10.——Experts in such matters and others who had a few dollars left after buying tickets, were laying bets at even money today that Joe Simonich, the 147-pounder from Butte, Mont., would whip Pete Latzo, welterweight champion of the world, in their ten-round match at Dexter park tonight.

Simonich created a favorable impression here by the serious manner in which he trained and the "stuff" he displayed against a Cleveland group of sparring partners. As Latzo's crown will not be at stake, Simonich will not worry about the result. He plans he says, to make a rushing fight of it and to end it as soon as possible. He has everything to win and little to lose.

Both men are in excellent condition. Latzo's infected lip no longer bothers him, and his hands are again in good shape.

Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, will meet Patsy Rocco, Chicago in the semi-windup.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 10.—Despite the efforts of Wayne "Big" Munn, former university of Nebraska student, to take his title away, Ed "Strangler" Lewis was still boss of the heavyweight wrestling division today.

The show was held in the football stadium at the fair grounds.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If you were to attend a golf tournament or any other meet where top golfers were competing you would note one thing—that from lies off the edge of the green these players apparently always try to hole out the ball. Professionals even go up and survey the line when they are exploding the ball from a trap at the green. You might think such attempts to be assumptive, but the fact is the play from anywhere about the green should always be an effort to hole out. In the first place, you might hole out. In the second place the chances are that if you play for the cup— a definite objective—your ball will come to rest much nearer the pin than if you merely play for the green.

COLUMBIANA TO PLAY HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Plans for Postponed Game Completed by Teams.

MANAGER RAY ADAM, of the Elks' county league basketball club, today announced the completion of negotiations for the appearance of the Columbiana Boosters, their nearest rivals for second half honors, on the local court next Monday night for the play off of the game postponed from last week.

Tomorrow night's game with Salineville here, and the postponed tilt with Salem, scheduled for the Salem court, complete the Antlers' card for the season, exclusive of the championship series at the end of the season, should they be fortunate enough to finish at the top.

Columbiana is a half-game behind the Elks today as a result of their victory last night over Damascus at Columbiana. The score was 43 to 31. The Quakers were easy victims for "Boots" Hawkins and his gang, the score failing to show the margin of superiority. The Boosters did practically all of their scoring in the first three quarters, when they were out ahead by a count of at least 2 to 1 proportions. Then they eased up and coasted down the concluding quarter.

Dowd, Columbiana forward, led the scorers. He registered seven field goals and five fouls for a total of 19 points.

It was the last home game for the Boosters. Two more are on their schedule, the one here Monday night and one at Damascus.

The Salem-Salineville clash, billed for Salineville, was postponed, no date being decided upon for the play-off.

It was understood today that a meeting of the league may be called for Sunday at Lisbon although league officials had not definitely issued the order.

Rides With Broken Rib.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The team of McNamara and Georgetti was still leading the six-day bike race early today, but McNamara was riding with a broken rib as the result of a spill and his partner also was crippled. Beckmann and Petri were second, two laps behind, and another lap in the rear came Stockholm and Winter. Twenty-three laps were stolen during the night's wild sprints.

A Blow to Japan.
Dove in Sabre Handle.
Mellon Saves Money.
Coolidge Will Go West.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

LATER news from Japan is distressing, thousands killed by earthquake and tidal wave.

At the front door of Japan, in the Pacific ocean, is the deepest hole in the world. Land slipping into this chasm causes earthquakes and tidal waves, but the Japanese are not discouraged.

China is a warning for nations controlled by pacifists. Ever since Confucius, and before, the philosophical Chinese have had for motto, "Why fight?" and ever since that time outsiders of the Jenghis Khan type have come in to conquer and rule peaceful Chinese. Some made them let the hair grow long, a convenient handle for chopping off their heads. Others made the women squeeze their feet so they couldn't run away.

MUSSOLINI'S Fascisti have a little picture showing the dove of peace nesting in the hands of a big sabre with a line saying it is the safest place for a peace nest.

If you don't want people to fight you, keep ready to fight. Nobody ever slapped Jack Dempsey's face.

AT ST. AUGUSTINE, before he was elected, President Harding said to this writer: "The second richest man in the world will be my secretary of the treasury. What do you think of that?"

Secretary Mellon has confirmed the writer's statement to President Harding that the second richest man in the world should know something about money and be a good man to look after Uncle Sam's cash.

Working for the wages of an average chief clerk, Mr. Mellon has already reduced the national debt by seven and a half billions, and will refund the 4¼ per cent Liberty bonds, exchange them for 3½ per cent five year treasury notes. This one transaction will save the people $23,000,000 a year in interest charges. It is a good thing to confide an important job to one that understands that kind of job.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE will spend his vacation in the west, in response to many invitations. He should drive in a big automobile from Kansas City to Seattle, from Seattle down to San Diego, fishing here and there. He

Teach Children Rules of Etiquette

Good manners are an asset—bad manners a life-long handicap. This is one reason why children should have the advantage of early training in the practice of the little courtesies that rub off so many of the sharp edges of daily living.

The easiest and best way to teach the children manners is to set a good example yourself. Maybe you had better brush up on a few points.

The new etiquette booklet which our Washington Bureau offers is just what you need for this purpose. Send in your name and address, together with six cents in stamps, and a copy will be forwarded promptly.

SENATOR BENDER PLANS TO FILIBUSTER IN CLASH OVER DODD RESOLUTION

Proposal Provides for Joint Legislative Committee to Decide Upon Remedial Enactment as Result of Court Ruling.

WET-DRY CLASH AT COLUMBUS

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—"I will use every endeavor to prevent the adoption of the Dodd joint resolution in the Ohio senate and will resort to filibuster tactics, if necessary, in an effort to bring about its defeat," declared Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, Republican, here today.

Bender Will Press His Bill.

The Dodd resolution provided for appointment of a special joint legislative committee to decide what remedial legislation, if any, is necessary as a result of the recent unanimous decision of the U. S. supreme court invalidating Ohio statutes which authorized compensating village mayors from fines collected from liquor law violators. The resolution is in the hands of the senate rules committee after passing the house.

Bender voiced belief that the Dodd resolution constitutes "a move to sidetrack" his pending bill" which shall not be sidetracked, as the resolution, evidently, proposes shall be done," continued Bender.

"The published statement, credited to Dr. E. J. Moore, Columbus, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, that the bill by Senator L. T. Marshall, Greene county, placing justices and village mayors on fees instead of salaries, was introduced prior to my salary bill is untrue," Bender stated.

"The Marshall bill was introduced after I had offered by bill, and the purpose of Moore's statement is to delay action on my bill" declared Bender.

Dodd Explains Proposal.

Representative Dodd and other supporters of the resolution insisted that the Anti-Saloon league officials had nothing to do with the resolution. They declared that the sole purpose of the resolution as to "dispose of the matter in an unprejudiced, unbiased, judicial manner, and eliminate, if possible, everything smacking of a wet-dry controversy."

BOY FATALLY HURT WHEN HE FALLS FROM CAR

Edward Holland, 17, Dies From Concussion of Brain.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Kountz Avenue Lad Slipped After Jumping on Running Board.

The accident occurred when the lad attempted to jump aboard an automobile driven by his brother, Harry Holland, near the family home. He slipped on the running board, fell to the road, the back of his head striking the pavement.

The elder brother assisted Holland who appeared to have been only stunned, into the house. The victim lapsed into unconsciousness a few minutes later.

The family formerly resided in Hammondsville.

Besides his parents and one brother, Holland is survived by seven sisters: Nora, Mayme, Erla, Flossie, Esther, Lula and Freda, all at home.

Ontario Assembly Applauds as Wet Measure is Read

TORONTO, Ont., March 10.—In line with the mandate of the voters to supersede the Ontario temperance act, the provincial legislature today had before it a liquor control bill introduced by Premier Ferguson and given a first reading amidst enthusiastic applause of government supporters.

Liquors, wines and beer would be sold only in government-operated stores and sales would be made only by permits under provisions of the measure.

FRANK HOOVER IS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Gus Swanson Fined on Reckless Driving Charge.

City Solicitor Frank Hoover sustained a fractured right knee cap and other injuries, while Court Bailiff Carmen Hissam is suffering also from bruises to his right leg, as the result of an automobile crash on the Lincoln highway, two miles north of Stop 55, yesterday afternoon.

Gus Swanson, operator of a coal mine at Rock Camp, driver of the machine which is alleged to have crashed head-on into the car occupied by Hoover and Hissam, was fined $25 and costs and his automobile license suspended for six months after arraignment before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon a charge of fast and reckless driving. An action for damages, it is said, will be filed against Swanson.

The solicitor and bailiff were enroute to Lisbon to appear in a court suit when the accident occurred. Hissam, who was at the wheel of his car, a Chevrolet coupe, said that he was traveling at a rate of 25 miles an hour near the top of the hill leading to Rock Camp, when he met Swanson, driving an Oldsmobile sedan.

Swanson's Explanation.

Swanson claimed he had failed to notice the approach of the Hissam car because he was attempting to adjust the accelerator of his automobile. When he looked up it was too late to avert the crash. Hissam alleged that the Swanson car was on the wrong side of the road when the smash-up occurred.

Hoover was thrown 30 feet from the car, and the machine was overturned twice, coming to a stop in a field. Hissam was pinned under the wrecked car.

Judge Hanley on his way to Lisbon in another car, arrived just as Hissam was crawling from the wreckage.

Hoover and Hissam were brought to the City hospital by a passing motorist. Neither Swanson nor two women in his car were injured. Hissam received first aid treatment at the hospital, and Hoover was taken to his home last night after his leg had been placed in a plaster cast.

The Hissam car was reduced to a mass of wreckage. The front end of the Swanson machine was badly damaged. McElravy's wrecker brought both cars to East Liverpool.

67 PERSONS DIE AS FIRE RAZES PLAYHOUSE IN SOVIET TOWN

PANIC FOLLOWS

Without Fire Fighting Apparatus By-standers are Helpless.

MOSCOW, March 10.—Sixty-seven persons were dead today in the village of Karavaikovo, in the northern part of Divna province, as the result of a fire which broke out in a theatre last night at a time when the house was crowded with spectators.

The entire population of the village had packed itself into a wooden school building, which had been turned into an improvised theatre, for amateur theatricals celebrating International Women's Day.

A kerosene lamp burst on the stage and flaming oil drenched a group of children taking part in the play.

Panic-stricken parents striving to rescue their children became ignited themselves and the holocaust ensued.

The village had no fire fighting apparatus and those who escaped from the burning building were forced to stand by helplessly and watch the fire consume the bodies of friends and neighbors.

Every family in the village lost at least one member in the fire.

Twenty-seven bodies have been recovered and 40 are missing.

Mrs. Susan Marshall, 83, of 314 West Third street, widow of George Marshall, died suddenly yesterday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jennie McMillin, Pensacola, Fla., where she had been visiting since last September.

Mrs. Marshall, who was born in Staffordshire, England, was a daughter of the late Elizabeth and John Ross. She came to the United States when six years old and since resided in East Liverpool.

She was a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal church and a charter member of the Pythian Sisters.

She is survived by three sons and two daughters: Edward, Harry and Dr. Hugh Marshall and Mrs. Elizabeth Waulmaker, all of this city, and Mrs. McMillin, Pensacola. She was an aunt of Mrs. William J. Mackey and Miss Eva Ross, both of East Liverpool.

The body will be brought here for burial.

PISTOL VICTIM DID NOT FIRE FIRST, WITNESS TELLS JURORS

Mrs. Rose Householder, Accused's Sister-in-law, on Stand.

BROOKES SCORES

Alleges Prisoner Struck Rodney Ogle Before Shooting.

The state struck hard blows at the self-defense plea of Roy Wallen, 33, coal miner, who is charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, at East Salineville, on Feb. 6, last, when the trial was resumed today before Judge William F. Duncan, of Findlay, in common pleas court, Lisbon.

Eye-Witnesses on Stand.

Mrs. Rose Householder, 24, and Paul Lagara, 17, sister-in law and brother-in-law, respectively, of the accused man, were the state's trump cards.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes and his assistant, John E. Bauknecht, appeared for the state, while Attorney W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, East Liverpool, represented Wallen.

Eye-witnesses to the shooting, aftermath of an alleged beer party in the Ogle home, were called today as the hearing of evidence was resumed following yesterday afternoon's visit of jurors, defendant and attorneys to the scene of the killing.

Mrs. Householder testified for one hour and 34 minutes, while her brother was still on the stand when the noon recess was ordered.

Mrs. Householder on Stand.

Mrs. Householder testified under direct examination by Prosecutor Brookes that she lived at the T. A. Whitacre home on Lincoln highway, 11 miles west from Lisbon. She said that Wallen had married her sister, Angeline, in February, 1923, when she was about 14 years of age.

On the night of February 6, she said, she and her brother started for the home of Joseph Hammond in response to a letter that had been received from Mrs. Wallen, her sister, in which it was said that Mrs. Wallen was going to move away. They walked from Salineville and as they passed along the road and in front of the Ogle house she said she saw Angeline in the house, and the witness and her brother went in.

Ogle was there, she said. She declared that Wallen came into the house about five minutes later and had a mandolin with him. She said that she saw bottles of beer on the kitchen table. Later Wallen hit her and pulled a gun from his pocket, and called her a vile name.

A little later they were dancing and singing, and while Roy was playing the mandolin in the kitchen Angeline started to cry about Paul coming back, the witness said.

Describes Shooting.

Mrs. Householder then said her sister went in the sitting room, threw herself on the floor and that Wallen followed her. Wallen after ordering his wife to arise, grabbed her by the neck and pulled her to her feet, the witness swore. Ogle then remonstrated, she said.

When Ogle started to walk toward the kitchen, Wallen said "I have a notion to shoot you," Mrs. Householder testified. She saw Wallen then pull his gun from his pocket and fired two shots.

Wallen Threatened Her, Witness Says.

Prosecutor Brookes asked the witness to step from the witness box to the court room floor beside him to indicate the distance between Wallen

CRISIS IN STRANGE CASE OF "LIVING DEAD MAN," SNATCHED FROM GRAVE BY ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION, EXPECTED WITHIN NEXT 12 HOURS

EVANSTON, Ill., March 10.—A slight improvement was noted in the condition of Albert Frick, the "living dead man," at 9:30 this morning.

"The palate is active and the pulse brisk," said Dr. Charles F. Reed. "It is a hopeful sign."

The ninety-sixth hour of Frick's paralysis, which automatically stopped his ability to breathe, found 56 fellow employes of the Public Service company of Illinois still working in shifts of two keeping him alive by artificial respiration.

Oxygen Revives Spark of Life.

Frick almost died in a relapse early today and only the hurried use of oxygen kept the faint spark of life glowing.

A crisis is expected within the next 12 hours.

"It is impossible to forecast the future," said Dr. Reed. "One might say that if artificial respiration is kept up and if the boy's heart does not give way, there is a fair chance of his recovering.

"On the other hand, if the paralysis does not retire there is nothing we can do. The men, of course, will keep up respiration in the boy just as long as the least spark of life remains, but it can't be kept up forever.

"Literally it is a question whether the paralysis or Frick's vitality holds out the longest. And no one can say to just what lengths any given person's vitality may be stretched."

Technically, "Died" Sunday.

Technically, from the standpoint of medical science, Frick "died" last Sunday morning when he ceased to breathe after being stricken with motor paralysis. The stroke affected the diaphragm and chest walls, making respiration impossible.

But young Frick—he is only 22 years old—was reclaimed to life by the quick action of a physician who induced artificial respiration by pressing the patient's sides, forcing air in and out of his lungs.

Since that time the youth has been kept alive by muscular young men, friends of young Frick, who work in teams of two men each and in shifts of 15 minutes.

Life Depends on 56 Friends.

Four famous specialists and a group of trained nurses, representing all the skill of medical science, stand by, baffled and helpless, while this untiring crew of unskilled men, inspired by the desire to save a human life, go about their task with mechanical precision.

There is a man on either side of the bed. The patient is propped up at an angle of 45 degrees. In perfect rhythm the men press the patient's sides, bellows fashion, forcing the life-giving air in and out of the lungs. They work for 15 minutes and then two other men take their place. Not a single beat is missed. Should they cease for a minute the patient would die.

The physicians direct their labors and check on the patient's condition. There is little else they can do. Frick's life depends on the brawn of his 56 friends rather than the skill and intelligence of the specialists.

Infection from Teeth Blamed.

The physicians are hoping that the paralysis will in time disappear and that normal functioning of the respiratory organs may be resumed. Indications last night were that this was coming about. Frick has been so paralyzed that he could not swallow nor talk. Shortly before midnight he was able to swallow a little liquid nourishment and whisper a few words of thanks to the loyal friends who are fighting to bring him back to health.

Frick was stricken after he had two teeth extracted. It is believed an infection caused the paralysis. Physicians believe that if Frick can be kept alive until this infection runs its course, he will survive. Dr. R. C. Brown, one of the specialists in attendance, said the infection should run its course in five days. That should bring Frick's case to a crisis sometime today.

Nature Doesn't Punish Her Any Longer

Menstruation is Nature—but menstrual pain is NOT natural, and not necessary. Science has conquered the painful part. In a harmless—yes, healthful—little tablet called midol.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes.

Don't have another day of fear, quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress teh heart, is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in thin aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

Pressman tells how newspaper workers keep fit

The pressmen working in a newspaper office at Dorchester, Mass., used to have great trouble with rheumatic stiffness owing to frequent sudden draughts of cold air when the doors were opened to take in rolls of paper.

One of their number began using Sloan's Liniment and now they all chip in to keep Sloan's always on hand for the entire shop.

"After my day's work I rub a little Sloan's Liniment on my back and legs. It never fails."

Sloan's gives real help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause.

Apply gently, without rubbing. Right away you feel the comfortable, glowing warmth as the new blood is brought to the sore spots, and soon the aching stops. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

CHAPTER SIXTY.

Presently we arrived at a small village and the car stopped outside an inn. As it did so, a man dressed as a laborer got up from a table where he had been seated, drinking the white wine of the country, beneath a trellis of vine leaves, and approached the car, saying something to the Commissaire.

"Bien," replied that individual. "We are in time," he added, turning to me; "a closed car passed this way five minutes ago. It went down the road we are about to take and stopped. Doubtless it contained your friends."

We alighted from the automobile, and standing in the road, the Police Commissioner gave a series of sharp orders and to two others who had suddenly appeared.

He turned to me.

"You had better follow me, Monsieur," he said. "I shall effect the arrest personally, and you will be useful in identifying the prisoners. You will be good enough, however, to keep in the background so far as possible, and to refrain from exposing yourself, as it is, of course, essential that you should not be recognized."

I assented and prepared to follow him.

"We will proceed at once to the caves," he continued, "but we shall have to go on foot. They are not very far from here, and I don't want to take the auto any further for fear of arousing their suspicion."

We accordingly set off together down a straight road bordered on the left by a stone wall enclosing the garden or small park surrounding the local chateau, and on the right by a hedge from which sprang several tall poplars. The weather had cleared, and it was now a fine, dark night with a marvelous display of stars. Now that the moment was at hand, I found that my fatigue had vanished. I was burning with excitement. Would the Center and Claypole, alias Finckelstein, be there with such members of the gang as had been chosen to assist, or would Claypole have failed to lure that infamous, smiling Japanese into the trap laid for him? Well, I would soon be satisfied.

We proceeded down the road for some hundred yards I walked beside the Police Commissioner, with four plain-clothes detectives a few yards in the rear. We kept aboslute silence, and presently, at a sign from the commissioner, I and the four detectives crossed to the side of the road and walked in Indian file as close to the hedge as possible.

The road bore gradually away to the right and then began to descend. It had grown a little lighter in the last five minutes, and as we turned the corner, a gibbous moon appeared hanging in the night straight ahead of us, its rays faintly reflected on the tumbling waters of the Rhone, which I could just discern a quarter of a mile away to our right. After a moment or so the commissioner stopped and turning to me whispered:

"We cross the road here. There's a deep ravine on the other side and the road crosses it by a high stone viaduct which you can't see in the darkness. The caves are at the end of the ravine, fifty meters or so to this side of the viaduct, and the men who are watching them have been posted on the opposite side, concealed among the trees. Follow me, do exactly as I do, and don't make a sound."

As he finished speaking, he pressed something cold and hard into my hand. I felt it to be an automatic pistol of the heavy Mauser pattern carried by the Genevese police.

"Be careful," he warned me, "it is fully charged."

The feel of that cold weapon filled me with confidence, I had longed so desperately during the past week for something of a similar nature Now I had a means of defense, and inwardly resolved never to abandon it till danger from the gang was at an end.

Following the commissioner, we crossed the road, bending double so as to present no silhouette against the skyline. As we crossed it, I noticed a closed car standing by the right side the bonnet pointing away from Geneva. It was without lights, and there was a man standing beside it who saluted as we went past and said something to the commissioner, pointing with his thumb to the interior of the car as he did so.

"They've arrested the chauffeur," said the commissioner to me. "He's handcuffed and inside the car."

"Splendid," I replied. "Is he a Japanese?"

"Yes."

Having crossed the road, we plunged into a deep and narrow gully and I soon found myself crawling cautiously after the commissioner down a very steep bank studded with trees and undergrowth. So far, all was well. The chauffeur was a Japanese and the Center must have fallen into the trap I looked over my shoulder but saw no further sign of the detectives. Rustlings to my right and left, however showed me that they had spread out and were descending the side of the ravine in a line, about ten yards apart I stumbled on, the way growing darker at every step, till presently the commissioner, who was just ahead of me, laid a hand on my sleeve. I stopped and we both listened. Everything was utterly silent.

We were now at the bottom of the ravine. It was very narrow, and the opposite side sloped up equally steeply in front of us. Without a word the commissioner turned sharply to the right and walked down the center of the ravine, or rather moved from tree to tree. I followed him closely, halting every few yards to make sure that we were not observed. We proceeded about fifty yards, and the commissioner stopped finally. Turning to me, he put his mouth to my ear and whispered:

"Stay here, M. Quexter; the caves are about twenty yards further on, and he pointed to where a darker patch than the surrounding blackness showed on the side of the ravine a little way ahead. "Don't move," he went on, "till you hear the second whistle."

"Right," I answered, and he glided away.

I stayed there in an agony of impatience. I longed to follow him but dared not disobey his orders. It was his show. I was merely an onlooker.

I waited for what semed an interminable length of time. The air was very still and, peering through the gloom, I could just distinguish some distance ahead, the vast shadowy outline of the great viaduct rising some eighty feet and carrying the road across the ravine. I suppose not more than five minutes could have passed as I stood there straining my ears to catch the slightest sound.

Suddenly the night air was torn by the piercing shriek of a police whistle. At the same instant the sound of undergrowth crackling and giving way before the passage of several heavy bodies was audible.

Some one dashed past me from behind, breathing heavily as he ran and I saw that he was a gendarme in uniform. Then I saw the flash of an electric torch, and a moment later came a shout in French.

"Hands up I arrest you in the name of the ——"

The rest of the sentence was drowned by a fusillade of shots fired obviously from an automatic pistol, and sounding, in that narrow, gloomy valley, like burst of machine-gun fire Next there came a hoarse cry from the darkness in front of me, followed by more shots.

This was too much for me. I abandoned my post and plunged forward in the direction of the sound. I urged my way onwards, but in a few moments I rounded a large bush and at the same instant came into violent contact with a heavy body proceeding in the opposite direction. We crashed to the ground and rolled into the bush, the pistol being knocked from my hand.

I was underneath for a second and could do nothing, but the brush gave way beneath our weight and we fell again some two or three feet, twisting as we fell so that I came out on top. A voice from the darkness of the bush apprised me of the identity of my antagonist.

"Curse you," he swore in good round English.

Advertising In Newspapers

The public will not overlook the significance of the new advertising policy adopted by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. That great corporation, which in the past has advertised mainly in magazines, will now advertise almost entirely in newspapers.

This policy is applied not only with respect to household appliances, radio sets and equipment and other familiar articles of comparatively low cost, but with respect to industrial motors, street railway apparatus, railroad locomotives and generating stations.

The newspapers will be utilized for the whole range of Westinghouse products because the newspapers are universal in their range and appeal, because they are more flexible than any other publicity medium, because they permit at the same time national advertising and local advertising—in short, because they cover the field thoroughly and efficiently.

Experience has led to this change. The Westinghouse company knows what it is doing. Many another company, operating on a national scale, will do likewise, in order to get into direct touch with 100,000,000 consumers in a way that will suit its appeal to the spirit and needs of every community.

Chinese Nationalism

"All the combined power of the West," declared Senator Borah, when asked about conditions in China, "cannot shoot the newly awakened nationalism out of that county."

We should hope not.

The strangest thing about the recent Chinese situation has been the apparent efforts of the western powers to suppress the one thing needed by China to reanimate that vast country and make it fill a useful place in the world. And this in spite of the fact that the powers have always professed to desire the development of Chinese nationality.

Even America has seemed, by her acquiescence, to be helping in the wet-blanketing of Chinese aspirations.

What good can a dead China be to us? Do we want a national corpse fronting us across the Pacific, or a great, living democracy friendly to ours?

Misused Guns and Garages

As long as there are guns there will probably be accidental killings with guns which one person or another thinks not loaded. These will go on in spite of many warnings and tragic examples, because a few people in every community insist on being foolish.

In the same way, too, in spite of widespread warnings, people continue to kill themselves by running their automobiles in closed garages, thus surrounding themselves with the deadly fumes of carbon monoxide.

Here and there, through the world, there are people who do sometimes heed a timely warning. For their protection it is worth while to keep hammering away at fool things like the "unloaded" gun and the closed garage.

Valuable Straw Stacks

From a ton of wheat or oat straw John L. Harrison, an industrial chemist, has produced 1,600 pounds of useful products, including a roofing and damp-proofing substance, a new germicide and a fly spray. He says it is possible to run an automobile on straw gas.

"There is, indeed," he adds, "hardly any limit to the products that can be derived from straw by destructive distillation. If you offer me the grain or the straw, I will take the straw. Potentially, at least, it is the more valuable of the two."

Chemists are just find that out. Farmers will soon discover it. Hereafter there will be fewer straw stacks allowed to rot away. Farmers eventually will profit, life the Ford Motor company, from by-products unimagined a few years ago.

The Budgeting Wife

There is legal precedent now for asserting that the family budget is primarily the wife's business. A judge in Springfield, Mass., makes a court ruling to this effect, declaring that a wife should know best how to plan family expenditures, especially the marketing, and should be suppled with whatever money she needs for this purpose and left to her own devices.

Moreover, the judge upholds a wife's inalienable right to pin money. In this case he ordered a tight-fisted husband to give his wife $2 a week for herself, along with the money needed for family expenditures.

More judicial tyranny, of course!

STRAIGHTENING OUT A MISTAKE.

The person on trial was colored. He protested his innocence of the offense charged. But the jury, after listening to His Honor's instructions, found him guilty and the judge evidently convinced that there had been no miscarriage of justice, sentenced the convicted man to a long term of imprisonment at hard labor in state's prison.

The deputy sheriffs had manacled the malefactor and were taking him away when His Honor, face aflame with sudden indignation, halted the procession.

"Here!" he ordered. "Bring that man back here." The officers returned the handcuffed offender to the bar.

"What do you mean," demanded the irate judge, "by using profane language in connection with this court? How dare you curse me? I am strongly tempted to add five years more to your sentence."

"Jedge," pleaded the offender, "I didn't say nuthin' ag'in you."

"Have you the audacity to stand there and tell me that a minute ago, as you were being led from this room, you did not mutter under your breath profane utterance aimed at the dignity of the court?"

"Naw, suh!" stated the negro. "Jedge, please suh, lemme tell you jest how 'twas. NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 10. — Night clubs, picking at the coverlet, are offering all sorts of excuses in their dying gasp. The 3 a. m. curfew law is chiefly blamed. Also the unwholesome—for them—publicity of regarding innocent pleasure lovers as suckers.

This has been their thinnest year since the boys came back from over there, and a soul sick nation plunged into an orgy of gaiety. The decline came as they reached the peak of splendor, for never before were they so ornate and gaudy as this season.

Many former bell-hops of Raines Law hotels lost their hefty bootlegging bankrolls trying to make an abandoned cellar or garage a haven for the elite. But the customer wouldn't come. Visiting buyers on the loose for the evening were tired of being dubbed "butter and egg" men.

The night club business really collapsed through ridicule. In other days it was considered smart to visit them. Later it became a symbol of supreme boobery. The cure is not at all difficult and doubtless will be shortly remedied.

New York's daily barrage of transients demand gaiety and those who can cater to this desire with good food and music at reasonable prices will likely prosper. But The Big Gouge has ended and ordinary respectability will triumph. The pirating night club is dead.

The impertinence of night clubs actually laughing at patrons began with hat-snatchers at the doorway and reached the crescendo with hostesses hailing them merrily with "Hello sucker!" Those so brazenly gyped tired of being kidded.

Peculiarly enough the night clubs thought the election of Mayor Walker would enhance their sway, but the closing order he sponsored was a blow that helped to untruss them. Those who know say that the top cover price next winter will be $2.

That an increasing number of New York men use perfume is indicated by a firm doing a thriving business on the West Side catering to masculine trade. And a glance at any smart dining room is convincing enough that many youths are addicted to marcels, permanents and facials. Actors, stage musicians and sheiks comprise the bulk of such customers.

As an ink stained wretch who has been nurtured amid the varying horrendous smells of the print shop I welcome perfumes for men. There is a war hero who actually clinks if he wears his medals and who reeks with perfume when he appears in public.

There is a sightless beggar on lower Broadway who, when a coin is dropped in his cup by a woman, will say "Thank you, lady," and to a man, "Thank you, sir," although he never sees them or hears their voices. He says it is "unexplainable intuition."

And Blind George recognizes patrons at his newspaper hutch on a Bryant Park corner by their voices. He has been able to recognize them after an absence of two years.

I have observed for some time time those playwrights and magazine satirists whose sole gift has been to fire shafts of ridicule at popular notions of the great middle class—such as advertising slogans, booster organizations, tabloid newspapers, radio and other harmless pruriency—do not last long. They fizzle out and as a rule go back to the middle class jobs from which they were called. The explanation is doubtless that none of us care to see a joke carried too far and that ridicule often uncovers rare virtues. The state of Kansas never amounted to shucks until it became the target for national kidding.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Physical Educators To Meet.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—Stressing the importance of physical education in the public schools and colleges, the eastern section of the American Physical Education Association will hold its annual meeting in Washington, March 30-April 2. Ten days later, on April 13-16, the national convention of the organization will be held at Des Moines, Iowa.

More than a thousand members are expected at the Washington gathering, and an even larger number at Des Moines. Physical instructors see a rapidly growing field for members of their profession, and they are doing everything in their power to hasten the growth. One of their main objectives is legislation that will make physical education compulsory in all the public schools of the country, and their leaders say that the time is not far distant when that will have been accomplished.

At the Washington convention one of the interesting features will be the music of the Ford Musicians, from Dearborn, Mich. Henry Ford, when he is not engrossed in the business of putting the world on wheels, or conducting a model railroad or coal mine or proving to farmers that they work too hard and not intelligently enough, and when he is not rehabilitating ancient inns, indulges himself in a musical and dancing fad. He wants to see old-fashioned dances revived and popularized so that they will supersede the Charleston, the Black Bottom, and other modern eccentricities.

Ford has an orchestra that furnishes the music for these dances of the Victorian Era, and it will be here for the coming session of the convention. There will also be a dancing instructor to assist those to whom the Virginia reel, the schottische, the lancers, the polka, the square dance, and the like, are nothing more than names. The physical instructors are especially interested in this, for they are teaching dancing more and more in this day and age, but they are not permitted to teach the more bizarre of the modern dances.

Received By Coolidge.

The delegates to the convention will be received by President Coolidge at noon on Friday, April 1, at the White House, and in the afternoon they will go out to Fort Myer, Virginia, to see the famous monkey drill given by the cavalry troop there.

The principal speakers at the convention will be Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington University, and Dr. William Davidson, superintendent of the Pittsburgh schools. Dr. Frank Ballou, who heads the educational forces of the District of Columbia, will deliver the welcoming address.

Members of the association devote a great deal of effort and discussion to keep physical education free of fads. These fads fall naturally into two groups, they say. In the first are those that have no reasonable basis in physiology or in interest psychology, such, for example, as breathing exercises through a silver tube. When bankers and professional men pay $20 for a ten-cent tube through which they may breathe with the window open, as they often do, instead of sifting and warming the air through their noses, as is the normal way, according to the editor of the American Physical Education Review they have adopted a fad which is profitable to the salesmen of the ten-cent tube, but unhygienic for the user.

The reducing of the weight of growing girls to an artificial standard regardless of inherited tendencies and present needs is another fad without a reasonable basis.

The second group of fads, admitted to be more dangerous, are those that are taught by intelligent physical education teachers. Over-emphasis or exclusion of fundamental phases of physical education is said to be one of the great present evils.

Health should be a by-product of physical activity, not the main objective. A few monotonous big muscle movements could furnish the essential muscular needs for health. Interest in specific activities such as golf, tennis, swimming, and handball is the great incentive rather than fear of illness, and during the first 15 years of life the normal child of organic soundness should acquire as large a variety of muscle skill as possible.

The first big muscle accomplishment of the child is in learning to balance on both feet in standing, and on one foot in walking. The later preschool years add to this elementary skill abilities in running, jumping, climbing and throwing, and during the first seven to nine years of school

Of all the musical shows that have come this way this season, the show this week at the Strand might as well be set down as the best one of them all. Here is a show that has twenty people and they are all fast workers. All the singers have good voices, the dancers are better than usual and the chorus of youthful, pretty girls is the best that we have set eyes upon this season. Eastwood Harrison, owner and principal comedian of "That's My Baby" is an artist and a manager. He certainly knows how to put these shows together. The comedies are all lively ones, clean and wholesome comedy is dispensed in a rapid fire manner and one vaudeville specialty follows another in rapid succession. Last night's big crowd that completely filled the Strand, enjoyed this show immensely. Today they are presenting Circus Days.

There will be another complete change in the entire program for Friday and Saturday.

THE expectant mother's comfort and well being is very important. And one of the most important things for her to do is to use Mother's Friend to keep the skin and muscles soft and pliable—thus aiding the tissues and muscles to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood. Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. No woman awaiting the joy of motherhood should allow the days to pass without using Mother's Friend.

Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

Mother's Friend is safe for you to use because it contains no harmful drugs and is applied externally.

MOTHER SOBS AS ROY WALLEN VISITS DEATH SCENE

ACCUSED MAN'S WIFE MEETS HIM IN WELLSVILLE

Murder Trial Jurors go to Ogle Home in East Salineville.

Faithful Canine Seemingly Awaits Return of Slain Master.

Greeted by his sobbing mother as he arrived in Sheriff George Wright's automobile, Roy Wallen, accused of the slaying of Rodney Ogle, yesterday afternoon returned to the doorstep of the Ogle home in East Salineville, accompanied by 13 members of the jury before whom he will be tried in common pleas court, Lisbon.

Wallen also was accompanied by his young wife who, however, did not remain with the group for the inspection of the premises. She continued on to the Hammond home, some distance away, and returned when the jury was retracing its path to the railroad.

The jurors went to the murder scene on the 3:45 p. m. train out of Wellsville, stopping at "Ogle's cut" under special order of Pennsylvania Railroad officials. They returned on the train leaving Salineville at 5:45.

A little mongrel dog, the same dog that lay between Ogle's outstretched legs when the gun victim's body was found by neighbors on the night of February 6, provided the only sign of life as the jury, prisoner and county officials reached the house. The dog's ears lifted and its nose went into the air as the party approached. It surveyed each member of the group intently, and then trotted dejectedly out of view over a nearby hill.

Unable to gain entrance to the house through the door, Sheriff Wright was forced to pry a 12-inch board off a window frame. J. A. Rich, of Salem, the first juror impaneled in the case, climbed through the window and, inside removed a shovel that had been propped against the door.

The two rooms, kitchen and "sitting room" were unkempt. A few dirty dishes were there and several hard bread rolls.

In an old galvanized bucket on the floor was a grocer's paper sack containing a few winter onions. The two women jurors showed amazement at the condition of the house once called a home.

In the "sitting room" was an open sleeping couch. A few bed covers were on the couch. The back of the couch showed a film of mold. An alarm clock, on the arm of the couch, was silent.

The jurors were asked to make various observations at the request of the Prosecuting attorney, R. M. Brookes, including situations inside the house nad location on the outside.

Wallen was in charge of Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter, a chain of probably a yard in length being attached to the pair of handcuffs. Husband and wife chatted on the train as they were outbound and inbound.

"I used to work at East Liverpool," Wallen said to this newspaper. "The first job I had was with Herb Bailey when he run a welding shop in Rural Lane. After that I went to work on the railroads.

"My half-brother, George L. Davis, lives at East Liverpool and works on the street car line, and when our family went to East Liverpol, my stepfather, who had been employed by the Singer Sewing Machine company, at Hamilton, O., was transferred to East Liverpool and put in charge of the office there. That's when I went with the Bailey shop. I don't know where my first wife is. I've never heard."

Mrs. Davis, the mother of Wallen, and who resides at Covington, Ky., wept when she greeted her son as he sat in the car of Sheriff Wright.

IRONDALE SEEKS FIRE PROTECTION

Plans for the improvement of Irondale's fire fighting facilities were discussed at a meeting of the Irondale Civic club last night in the high school gymnasium.

Talks were given by J. A. Fickafus, of the Ohio inspection bureau, who has been surveying conditions in the territory, and C. W. Arnold, of Wellsville.

Several methods of bettering conditions have been considered by the civic club, including the installation of a water system, to take advantage of the natural resources that the community boasts in this line, and the purchase of chemical equipment.

However, as a preliminary step, the club urges citizens to clean up around their property, clean out chimneys and other flues and remove as many firehazards as possible.

Last night's session took the form of a "ladies' night" meeting, with wives and guests of members in attendance. A social hour followed the business session. Luncheon was served.

A public entertainment is being planned for the latter part of March.

HOMEWORTH MAN DIES OF RABIES

Funeral services for William G. Walker, 53, former resident of Homeworth, Columbiana county, who died in the Alliance City hospital, as the result of rabies, were conducted today in the Alliance Christian church. Burial was made in Mt. Union cemetery.

Walker was bitten by a pet dog on December 1, 1926. The injury seemingly healed, but last Friday night he became ill. A physician diagnosed the case as rabies and ordered his removal to the hospital.

Walker was employed at the Morgan Engineering plant, Alliance, where he has resided for about 28 years. He was a deacon in the Christian church. He leaves his widow, one son, one daughter and three brothers.

CROWD ATTENDS REVIVAL MEET

A large audience last night heard Rev. William Grafton, of Follansbee, W. Va., preach at the Free Methodist church.

His topic was "The Greatest Sin in the Ohio Valley." Neglect, he pointed out, could be classified as one of the greatest sins.

"Necessity of Preparation Before We Meet the Lord" will be discussed by Rev. Grafton tonight.

DRIVER ACCUSED IN AUTO DEATH

As an aftermath of the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, former resident of East Liverpool, who was struck by an automobile at the corner of Main street and Broadway, Salem, Sunday night, Thomas Cadwallader, president of the Salem Chattel Mortgage company, and driver of the car, was held for the grand jury by Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, upon a manslaughter charge, yesterday afternoon. His bond was fixed at $5,000, which Cadwallader furnished

Eleven witnesses, who testified at the inquest, estimated the speed of Cadwallader's automobile at the time of the accident at 35 to 50 miles per hour. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney H. H. Hickling, retained by Byron Williams, son of the accident victim, assisted by Solicitor Cecil Scott, Salem. The coroner held that Cadwallader was violating the speed laws at the time of the crash, even though he had the green block in the traffic light which gave him the right of way.

Cadwallader will face Mayor George Russell upon a charge of speeding on Wednesday, March 16. He is at liberty under $100 bond upon this charge.

Funeral srevices for Mrs. Williams were conducted in the MacLean funeral home, Wellsville, yesterday. Burial was made in the Clarkson cemetery.

'CROSS' SERMON TOPIC TONIGHT

Special Feature at Methodist Episcopal Services Tonight.

"Sunday School Night" was observed last night at evangelistic services in the First Methodist Episcopal church. More than half of the middle block of seats in the church auditorium was filled with a delegation of men.

Prof. Frederick Balmond, Philadelphia, song evangelist, led the musical program. Illustrated songs were rendered by the choir. Balmond sang "The Ninety and Nine," this number being illustrated with group slides reproducing master paintings. Classes of the Sunday school had a part in the service.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler's sermon was a continuation of the solo number, "The Ninety and Nine."

An illuminated cross will be used at tonight's service, when Dr. Fowler will preach on the subject, "The Cross in Christian Experience." A program by the children will be presented Friday night, "Young People's Night."

would see millions of Americans that like him.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB, able business man, leaving Europe, says he is never going back. Also, he knows he is getting old, "because I am losing the thrill of gambling." That is not a sign of getting old, only a sign of getting wise. The wonder is that as able a man as Schwab should ever have found a thrill in gambling.

Gamblers substitute false excitement for real achievement. Men that are real doers are rarely gamblers and men that have no serious occupation are gamblers nearly always.

All savages and few philosophers gamble.

DR. JAMES A. BEEBEE, president of Allegheny college, says Protestants are constantly being told to pray, but are not told how to pray. He advises them to use a rosary, and with its aid to concentrate thought on prayer, "holding the mind to the meditation at hand."

Dr. Beebee, formerly head of the school of theology at Boston university, says everything should be made practical and definite.

Tibetans and other eastern peoples use a prayer wheel. You pay so much to the priestly attendant, go your way, and he will grind out the prayers you order. But, of course, there is no merit in such haphazard praying.

THE supreme court decides unanimously that Texas' law forbidding Negroes to vote at Democratic primaries is unconstitutional. It is a most important decision, and not to the south only, since it may mean federal control over local primaries.

RIN-TIN-TIN AT AMERICAN

Excellent Cast Appears in "Hills of Kentucky."

The attraction announced by the American theatre for today, Friday and Saturday is the Warner Bros. production of "Hills of Kentucky" starring Rin-Tin-Tin and directed by Howard Bretherton.

The story concerns a dog known as "the Grey Ghost" and his pack of outlaw dogs and wolves who have become so feared and hated that a large reward has been offered for him. One day the Grey Ghost is badly injured and is befriended by Davy, a little cripple boy whose sister is the new school teacher.

Steve and Ben Harley, half brothers of very unlike disposition, are courting the girl. Steve has greater success and Ben takes the opportunity of shooting Steve when "The Grey Ghost" is near him. Steve is brought to the school teacher's house. This gives Ben a chance to start a nasty insinuation going among the receptive countryfolk, and it is not long until they will not allow their children to go to the school. With the help of "The Grey Wolf", this situation is remedied and the girl's attempted abduction by Ben is thwarted.

life, children should be taught to enlarge their use of these fundamental physical skills which are the basis of health and bodily enjoyment.

Health Sought Only When Lost.

Free exercises, calisthenics, and dancing are listed as essential aids in teaching bodily skills in standing and moving equilibrium, and it is stated that these should be taught with the acquirement of physical skill as the prime object. Health is to be sought only when it has been lost.

The team games and competitive athletics should come in the secondary school after the fundamentals have been learned. The elements of these team games, it is stated, can be begun in the sixth to eighth grades, and actual skill accomplishment in the elements of the game should precede the playing of the game. Varsity coaches, it is pointed out, spend most of their time in teaching the individual skills of the games and little time in playing the games, and physical instructors are admonished to profit by the coaches' example. Physical ignorance and lack of skill breed distaste for leisure time activities and fill the movie theatres and the bleachers.

The acquirement of a considerable variety of specific abilities should result from a well-rounded school curriculum, and present curriculums are criticised as tending to run too much to fads. It secures too meager results in actual accomplishment. This error is charged against institutions preparing physical instructors and the literature of the subject that is being published. Some schools are said to overemphasize games, others dancing, others formal gymnastics, others Danish gymnastics. The need is for an all around preparation that will secure varied interesting activities on the part of children and later during adult life joyous leisure-time hobbies.

Most of the teachers contend that they should not separate administration of physical education and health education in any school system. Their reasons for this are that if separate supervision is given there will be duplication, questionable results, misunderstandings, a great deal of friction and lost motion, and overemphasis of some features and neglect of others.

What may be considered a typical outline for physical and health education programs, it is said, would include medical inspection, school nursing, daily inspection by classroom teacher, dental hygiene, teaching of hygiene, physical training, special corrective classes, games, and athletics

And it differs from all other "Sixes"—not by little margins—but bold, vivid advantages that instantly stand out from all comparison.

Here is 50 miles an hour all day long, with ease to car and comfort to passengers. (Yet that is far below its maximum speed.)

Here is size, generous passenger room, simple, positive controls. No car of any price excels its easy riding qualities.

Here is economy, engineered not only to savings in fuel and oil, but particularly to freedom from early depreciation, and to lowest maintenance costs.

It is not merely that Essex easily matches large, high-priced cars in comfort. It is not only its speed, its quickness at the getaway or its easy mastery of the hills. Its charm is the combination of these qualities with a flying smoothness in action, and a responsiveness that heeds the lightest touch.

You may rarely use its over-capacity. But you do want the ability it gives. It avoids countless strains. It means ordinary driving, imposes no strain on motor or other mechanism. In every situation it means a better, more durable and lasting car.

There are five new bodies on the Essex Super-Six chassis—beautiful, smart in line, luxurious in upholstery and appointment. They are the greatest and deservedly most popular values Essex ever built.

MENACE OF STARVATION LOOMS IN QUAKE ZONE

TOKIO RELIEF PLANS HIT AS STORMS RAGE

Situation in Devastated Areas of Japan is Acute.

80,000 AFFECTED

Nation Rallies to Aid of Survivors of Catastrophe.

TOKIO, March 10.—At least 2,459 were killed and 4,107 injured in the earthquake which rocked western Japan last Monday, according to a statement issued by the home office today.

No estimate of the property damage has yet been made, but it is now thought that it will be relatively light, since the affected districts were undeveloped and contained only villages.

Traffic over main line railways has now been restored and roads into the stricken area are being rapidly repaired.

Relief work is being carried on in an energetic manner, but it has only begun.

Many refugees are ill because of exposure, according to advices received today.

TOKIO, March 10.—The situation in the areas devastated by the recent earthquakes and subsequent fires was still extremely acute today.

With transportation still badly crippled, the task of getting supplies to the affected areas is surrounded with many difficulties.

The menace of starvation is still prevalent.

There are at least 80,000 persons to be cared for in the provinces rocked by th tremblor.

The entire nation is rallying to the aid of the survivors of the catastrophe. Money, food, clothes and medical supplies have been concentrated at various points and are awaiting transportation mediums.

The Sanin railroad has been repaired and relief trains today were arriving from Miyazu.

Dr. Ito of the sixteenth arm division, in charge of three groups of nurses and doctors, was speeding to Kyoto today from this city. Another special train leaving here carried 50,000 blankets and 4,000 sacks of rice.

Hundreds of injured refugees are still without medical aid. With storms raging in the Sanin district, their plight is made even more miserable.

Troops of the regular army are cooperating with prefecture authorities in giving what aid they can. The soldiers are building barracks, putting up tents and dispensing available food supplies. Others are going about the grim task of digging bodies from the ruins of the destroyed villages and towns.

U. S. Court Ruling May Mean End of Rural "Speed Traps"

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A revision of the law codes of six states will be necessary because of the supreme court's decision that local "fee courts" wherein judges' pay is dependent upon conviction of law violators, are unconstitutional.

The court's decision applied directly to the Ohio law, described as being the most flagrant, but it also is applicable to some degree in Nebraska, Kentucky, Arkansas, North Carolina and Georgia, where there are similar statutes.

The decision is expected to wipe out to some extent rural "speed traps" and generally diminish judicial "tyranny" in rural districts.

Fee-splitting Fight

failed to reach an agreement relative to a site for the proposed new state office building.

During consideration of the Ward bill, providing for purchase of a site in South Front street, on the East bank of the Scioto river, in the new Columbus civic project, the committee voted as follows: That the building be erected on the state house compus, 8; that the South Front street site be purchased, 2. Six members of the committee did not vote. Nine members constitute a majority of the committee which was 16 members.

The senate committee on state building today decided to recommend passage of the Herbert bill, authorizing purchase by the state of the South Front street site for the proposed state office building. The bill provides for a direct state tax levy of 1-5 of a mill, over a period of two years, estimated to yield approximately $5,000,000, to be used in purchasing the site and erecting the proposed structure.

To Name Assistant Clerk.

The Republican members of the senate this afternoon, in caucus, are expected to select Edward P. Gibson, Columbus, to succeed Joseph Cross, Columbus, resigned as assistant senate clerk. The position pays $3,000 a year. Gibson, a World-war veteran, has been an examiner for the state civil service commission during the past six years.

Salaries for Mayors.

Decision has been reached by the senate and house judiciary committees, it was announced today, to recommend passage of identical bills, by Representative J. E. Roberts, Youngstown, and Representative D. S. Ingalls, Cleveland, decreeing that mayors shall be paid straight salaries, fixed by council.

Friends of the measure claimed that, if enacted into law, it will remedy the situation resulting from the recent U. S. supreme court decree invalidating the statutory provision compensating mayors from fines collected from liquor law violators.

The bill provides that mayors shall submit reports, the first of each month, to council showing the amount of fines collected, including liquor law cases, and decreeing that this money shall be all turned into the respective municipal treasuries.

The special committee chosen in the senate to draft a proposed legislative program dealing with taxation measures and appropriation bills will meet tonight, Senator Bolton, Republican floor leader, announced this afternoon.

Other Senate Bills.

The senate is asked to concur in the action of the house which passed the following bills:

By Anderson, Stark county, limiting the jurisdiction of mayors and justices of the peace in Stark county outside of Canton, in civil cases, and by Norton, Cuyahoga, authorizing boards of education to contract with private corporations, not for profit for the purpose of obtaining, for school districts, instruction along special lines.

Prohibition policies will be worked out by Mellon and Andrews while the new commissioner will be an executive officer to carry out the ideas of his superiors, it was explained.

FOREIGN TRADE DRIVE OPENS

Hoover Seeks to Smash $10,000,000,000 Mark Annually.

WASHINGTON, March 10. — A smashing drive to boost America's foreign trade over the $10,000,000,000 mark annually has been launched by Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Forecasting exports of close to $5,000,000,000 and imports of about $4,400,000,000 in 1927, the commerce department today announced details of an expansion program to further stimulate both foreign and domestic business.

New foreign trade posts were announced tentatively in the following cities:

Oslo, Norway; Berne, Switzerland; Winnipeg, Canada; Caracas, Venezuela, and Wellington, N. Z.

Hogan and his wife disappeared, the deputy said today, immediately following the fire which destroyed their home.

Government Scores Second Victory in H. F. Sinclair Trial

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Battering down the opposition at every turn, the government won its second important victory in the Harry F. Sinclair contempt trial today when Justice Hitz denied the defense the privilege of submitting to the jury voluminous evidence offered in mitigation of the oil man's refusal to answer certain questions before the senate Teapot Dome investigating committee.

The court held that while the evidence might be offered for the guidance of the court in its instructions to the jurors it could not be presented in the presence of the 12 men who are to determine the fate of the multi-millionaire oil man.

This new and unexpected turn of the proceedings made it certain that the trial would extend into another week.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 10. — The upward movement of the speculative leaders was carried to slightly higher levels in early trading today as the result of an aggressive buying wave which swept over the market and embraced a wide variety of industrial and railroad shares.

The motor stocks and many of the high-priced specialties pushed through to new high price levels for the year on extremely heavy trading, in which blocks of 5,000 shares of stocks frequently changed hands. The bullish pools continued their "drive" against the shorts in General Motors, Hudson Motors, Wabash and other record-makers, and the commission houses reported a considerable volume of short covering in this section of the market.

Steel and copper stocks were well bought as also were the equipment stocks and the sugars.

The "merger" railroad shares jumped into the limelight, with Kansas City Southern and Wabash leading an active, if not brilliant, forward movement. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh moved up three points to 114¾, completing a gain of about 26 points since the directors declined to extend their leasing agreement with Delaware & Hudson. Oil stocks were again irregular.

BREAKS PRISON TO SEE BABES

Carl Nichols, 30, of New Orleans, La., after six years in a Michigan prison and three months on a Louisiana prison farm on another sentence, escaped to see his children. Their mother had married again. He had never seen the younger child. Nichols suffered great hardships in getting to them — then surrendered. Above are pictures of Nichols' children, Mary and Henry Lee, and Nichols.

"Barracks Widow" Denies Charges of Soldier-husband

CLEVELAND, O., March 10.—The "wilful absence" with which her soldier-husband, Captain Herman N. Archer, U. S. A., military instructor in Princeton University, charged her in his divorce petition was denied in the answer of Mrs Anna Laura Archer, 1052 Geary street, San Francisco, on file in common pleas court here today.

Mrs. Archer was married to Captain Archer, then a private in the army, in 1902, in San Jose, Cal., she asserts. For 22 years she lived the life of a "barracks' widow," following her husband from one corner of the globe to another, as he saw military duty in the Orient, Latin America, and various posts in the United States. Eventually she became ill, and was unable to follow him any longer, she asserts.

The answer also reveals Archer as the hero of one of Richard Harding Davis' novels, "Captain Macklin," and as co-author of a 1925 best seller, "Mr. Archer, U. S. A."

Wallen Defense Hit

and Ogle at the time the shots were fired. This the witness did, indicating a space of about a foot.

The witness then went back to her chair and related that her brother, Paul, was standing beside her, outside of the door of the house, when the shooting took place. She said that Wallen first struck Ogle in the breast, causing him to reel toward the wall where a rifle was hanging by the support of several nails. Ogle, at no time while she was there, had any weapon in his hand or made any move to get one, she said.

After the shooting she testified that her sister got a match and went outside the kitchen door to see if Ogle were dead and that she and her brother were standing on the dirt road.

Wallen, she said, then came out and said, "I've shot Ogle, and he's going to die and they will hang me. I'll shoot myself."

She swore that Wallen then took a gun from the wall and fired a shot and that as they were walking away she heard another shot. Mrs. Householder said that Wallen then put a gun in her face and said: "Did you see Ogle shoot first?" and I was so scared I said "yes," she swore.

Witness Cross-Examined.

Attorney O'Grady then took the witness for cross-examination and to a question as to whether or not she ever tried to separate Wallen and his wife by saying to her sister, "You would be better off without him," the witness replied, "No, I didn't."

She repeated under cross-examination that she arrived at the Ogle home at 7 o'clock the night of February 6, that it was dark and there were two oil lamps burning in the house. She said her sister took a lamp into the sitting room with Mr. Ogle to hunt for a photograph, and that there was a gun hanging on the wall in the sitting room. She testified she first saw this gun when Wallen knocked Ogle against the wall. At that time her sister was sitting in the room, crying.

"I don't know what made her cry; we never had any trouble," Mrs. Householder said, "And I never tried to separate my sister from her husband."

She declared that Ogle tried to get her sister to stop crying and that Wallen had told her to stop crying or he would make her ears bleed. At that time she said her sister was on the floor screaming and that her brother, Paul, was in the kitchen. Wallen, she said, picked his wife up by the neck and said "If you don't behave I'll kill you," and then Ogle said, "O, don't do that!" Wallen then struck Ogle three times, the witness said.

"I moved toward the door," she said, "when Ogle told Wallen if he wanted to fight to get out. I went out first, and I didn't move until after the second shot. Ogle was standing in the kitchen when the first shot was fired, she said.

Mrs. Householder said then that she and her brother ran from the Ogle home to the McGarry home, about a mile away, and that later her sister and Wallen came over to the McGarry house. She said the McGarrys wanted her sister to stay there that night, but Wallen said, "She's my wife, we'll go home."

Paul Lagara's Ttestimony.

Paul Lagara testified to a similar story which a cross-fire of questions by Attorney Crawford failed to shake.

Lagara testified he saw some beer on the table and that Ogle was passing it around. The youth said that when he and his sister were in the McGarry home, his sister, Angeline, arrived, Wallen was with her.

Lagara said that Wallen struck Ogle twice. Under cross-examination by attorney Crawford, the witness testified that before they left the Ogle home Wallen said to him and his sister, "You saw Ogle fire the first shot."

Mr. Krug tells us about somebody he knew who took a ride a short time ago on one of those sight-seeing busses out in San Francisco. When they reached a big hill the man with the megaphone requested the passengers to hold their grips in their hands to lighten the load. Everybody did! Then as the grade got steeper, he asked them to stand up. And everybody did! What would you have done? So would we.

We know a lot of homes here in East Liverpool that have waste room in the attic. By using SHEETROCK, one or more mighty attractive rooms could be made in the attic. The cost would be small. Think that little idea over.

FIRST SHOWING OF NEW NASH BODY DESIGNS

Attractive New Models Feature Nash Auto Display.

THREE-DAY SHOW

Event is First of Its Kind Held in City.

Following the sensational debut of the Ambassador and Cavalier models, Nash now discloses for the first time two entirely new models of the same general character in design but priced so as to appeal to an even wider market. These two new enclosed cars are named the "Special" Sedans. One is mounted on the Advanced Six chassis while the other is on the Special Six series.

Though the unique body design which is the pre-eminent point of interest about these two new "Special" models is distinctly an original Nash conception it possesses an European air that is magnetically attractive. Their classically graceful contours and the French-type back illustrate this foreign note vividly.

Judged by the phenomenal enthusiasm which greeted their predecessors, the Ambassador and the Cavalier, these two "Special" models will win immediate public favor. The originality displayed in their design and the superb artistry of their craftsmanship emphasizes the great strides Nash has taken toward establishing its product as the authentic style maker for the industry.

With respect to the color dress of these two new models Nash has provided another feature of important interest. The finish of the Advanced Six "Special" Sedan is an exquisite new shade of gray-green which contrasts richly with the gleaming black of running gear and upper structure. The window reveals are also done in gray-green. The disc wheels are gray-green and like the deeper green body moldings carry a double stripe in gold.

For the "Special" sedan on the Special Six chassis a lustrous blue has been employed for the body and wheels. The body molding is black, as are the running gear and upper structure. Gold is the tone used in the double striping of both the wheels and the molding. And the window reveals have the blue tone.

An examination of the interior reveals again the extent to which Nash has gone in providing fittings and appointments of luxurious quality. Both models display genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet upholstery, deeply tufted and tone in a soft gray, and the steering wheel of each is fashioned of real walnut. Also the inside window moldings and door panels are of walnut finish with a contrasting ivory stripe in the door panels. To complete the harmony of the interior ensemble the instrument board is of walnut finish as is true of the crowned panel directly above the instrument board.

These two new models, like all other Nash models are powered with the big Nash 7-bearing motor, known as the ultra modern motor and the world's smoothest type. Though a more expensive type of power-plant to build the 7-bearing motor is vastly superior in performance to the standard prevailing 3 or 4-bearing type of motor. That Nash not only has endowed the "Special" models with vital advantages in the way of beauty and luxury but also as regards superlative performance, smoothness and quietness. Throughout the extreme range of speed and power of this motor the evenness and silence of the power-flow is a revelation.

Among a great array of further important mechanical attractions these new "Special" models include insulation of the motor by rubber motor supports; an oil "screen" agitator; thermostatic motor control; crankcase "breather;" double-beam headlights; full force feed lubrication; oil purifier; gas filter; air cleaner; hydrostatic gasoline gauge; 4-wheel mechanical type brakes of special Nash design; and 5 disc wheels.

MINERS' PICKS MAKE ROUGH GRAVE FOR ONCE COUNTESS MINOTTO

CROWN KING, Ariz.—Though princes of the royal blood paid tribute to the fame and beauty of Countess Agnes Minotto in the days when, as leading woman of the Imperial Theatre, Berlin, she was the toast of continental Europe, only a handful of veteran hard-rock miners of this isolated mountain town were in her funeral cortege to mourn at her bier.

Messages of condolence from numerous friends in Europe and America poured in upon her only son, James former C[illegible] Minotto, of Italy, when the telegraph wires flashed the news of the sudden death of the countess here from heart disease, but not even her closest friends in this newly adopted land of her's could be present at the grave for a raging snowstorm that effectually blocked all traffic in and out of Crown King fell throughout the day of her funeral.

So, with pick, drill and shovel, and carrying the casket upon their shoulders, the miners braved the elements fought through the blinding snow, and while the sorrowing son and a lone priest kept vigil, bored and blasted into the granite heart of one of her beloved mountains, until they had carved a space for her final sleep.

Countess Minotto was the widow of Count Demetrious Minotto, of Rome, who died in 1926.

A New Body Style Reigns in America

Created by Nash

Revealing an alluring French-type rear contour, this ultra-new and arrestingly original body design has now entirely changed American ideas of motor car style.

First exemplified by the new Ambassador and Cavalier models, this unique body conception was immediately hailed as the most important creative achievement in the history of American enclosed car craftsmanship.

Today this inimitably distinguished body mode is available in the new Special Sedans just introduced on both the Special Six and Advanced Six chassis at prices of wider popular appeal.

The extreme luxury of its interior is emphasized by the gray tufted genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet upholstery, real walnut steering wheel, and select hardware in chaste pattern.

All inside window moldings and door panels are of walnut finish, as is the instrument board and the crowned panel above the instrument board.

The same fittings and appointments grace the larger Advanced Six model and both are powered with the big Nash 7-bearing motor—the world's smoothest type. 4-wheel brakes and 5 disc wheels are standard equipment.

BRITISH CRUISER TRIP TO NICARAGUAN PORT SCORED

"PART OF DEEP GAME," CHARGE BY SHIPSTEAD

AIDS U. S. POLICY

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 10.— "Is Great Britain's dispatch of the cruiser 'Colombo' to Nicaraguan waters a threat against the Monroe Doctrine?" asks Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota.

"Pooh!" he replies. "Great Britain disavows any such intention and undoubtedly disavows it sincerely. Nevertheless, the 'Colombo's' presence off Nicaragua gives the state department an excuse to plead that the United States must intervene in the new world's troubles or other powers will intervene to protect their own nationals, thus violating the Monroe Doctrine.

"The obvious effect is to strengthen the state department's position with the American people in such situations as that in Nicargua."

Senator's View.

"Why this British policy of helpfulness toward the state department? Well, the British are playing a very deep game. If this game facilitates the state department's plans in situations which do not concern Great Britain, as in Nicaragua, Great Britain may conceivably expect the state department to favor British plans in other fields which do concern her—shall we say, for instance, in China?

"Another consideration, doubtless, is that such United States' methods as those used in Nicaragua antagonize all Latin-America against this country, with damage to our friendly relations, political prestige and trade throughout the entire family of republics to the southward. Whatever we lose in this respect is so much gain to Europe, including Great Britain.

"Is it not natural for the British to make it as easy as possible for the state department to pursue a policy whereby they gain at our expense?

"A Pretext," He Says.

"As for Great Britain's claim that her nationals in Nica agua might need a cruiser as a refuge, that evidently is the merest pretext. The trouble in Nicaragua was an old story long before the 'Colombo's' dispatch to Corinto was suggested. When the Colombo' finally was ordered thither, United States' marines already fully dominated the situation and were giving full protection to all foreign lives and property as well as citizens of the United States there.

"Thus, the only genuine occasion for the presence of British forces in Nicaraguan waters would be the deliberate intention to defy the Monroe Doctrine, which is too silly a theory for serious consideration."

Department's Answer.

While no individual official of the state department would make any comment on Senator Shipstead's assertions, the division of current information of the state department presents this as the administration's side of the case:

"At the outset the British government left the Nicaraguan situation exclusively to the United States, presumably because it considered the latter protecting everybody and British nationals then were not particularly insistent. Later, British residents began demanding protection under their own flag, with increasing urgency. On Feb. 15, the British charge d' affairs at Managua asked President Diaz of Nicaragua for guarantees. The United States gave assurances of protection, but avoided the word 'guarantees' as implying indemnification in event of loses.

Ambassador's Statement.

"Subsequently, Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, informed the state department the British contemplated sending a cruiser. Then, that they had reluctantly decided to send it. He emphasized that no landing was intended, but that the cruiser was intended simply for rescue purposes in the event of danger."

References to the Monroe doctrine are studiously avoided by the state department. But it is abundantly clear on both sides that no violation was intended or suspected. Moreover, the state department not only has never attempted to impress this country with the notion that the Doctrine is threatened for foreigners unless the United States protects their interests But the department has emphasized that the Doctrine is not an issue in this case.

Even though the 'Colombo' is unnecessary at Corinto, it is the department's impression that the British prefer protection under their own flag to any other, just as Americans prefer theirs when endangered anywhere abroad.

The indictments charge conspiracy through concerted plans to induce various persons to part with money under pressure of threats.

Tony Parrotta and Jack Carissimi after pleading guilty to the charges were sentenced to two years in Moundsville prison by Judge J. B. Sommerville.

Two joint indictments in addition to that naming Parrotta and Carissimi were returned, one of them naming twelve men as conspirators against the Red Man act, the other, two.

Four men and two women were indicted in connection with the whipping of Frank Yakanek, barber, near Colliers, in January. Those indicted are: Mary Pale, Harriet Rishel, Okey Adams, Elias Williams, Sam Piano and Oliver Rigo. They are alleged to have tied Yahanek to a tree and to have beaten him with horsewhips.

SLATER CHECKS STORY TOLD IN MELLETT PLOT

MAY VISIT PAT

McDermott and Rudner to be Interviewed in Penitentiary.

CANTON, O., March 10.—Detective Ora Slater of Cincinnati today was continuing his efforts to substantiate the story told by Louis Mazer, alleged conspirator in the Don Mellett murder, of July 16, last.

Mazer's story was given to the Stark county grand jury Tuesday and made public for the first time.

Several police officers, who were on the Canton force at the time of the Mellett slaying, were mentioned in Mazer's statement as being "the higher ups" who knew that an "editor was to be mauled," on the night of July 15, 1926.

In order to check more thoroughly on Mazer's "immunity-confession" Slater may visit Pat McDermott, who Mazer claims, was the "triggerman, and who is now serving a life sentence following his conviction of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Mellett.

Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective, awaits arraignment for his alleged complicity in the crime. The arraignment is scheduled for next Monday.

If Slater makes the trip to the penitentiary it is probable he will question Ben Rudner, also, it was stated here today by those close to the investigator. Rudner was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the conspiracy.

Hint Mayor Plans Inquiry.

Reports that Mayor S. M. Swarts of Canton had started a probe all of his own, in connection with Mazer's revelations could not be confirmed here at noon today. If Swarts intends an independent investigation he had not started it at mid-day.

Doll Carey, known in Canton as "Louise Mazer's sweetheart," is out of the city and her present whereabouts are unknown, according to authorities. She is wanted for questioning.

Only one of the police officers involved in Mazer's story is still on the Canton force, it was learned. The others were dismissed following the Mellett murder.

CERAMIC BOOKS GREAT DRAMA

Willard Mack Will Appear in "Honor Be Damned!"

Willard Mack is one of the very few modern dramatists who casts aside all conventional methods of play construction, who adheres to no particular system of human opinions, but lancet keeness dissects his problems of life with the surety and authority of one who is absolutely familiar with the theme which he is projecting by histrionic visualization. Mack is a past master in the science of dramaturgy; he knows the value of a pause; the significence of a look; the duration of a substantial situation; the responsibility of lighting a scene or diminishing an incident, and is an absolute practical man of the theatre who can write, act, construct, and embellish any avenue of activity utilized for dramatic reflection.

In his newest play, "Honor Be Damned!" which will be at the Ceramic theatre, March 16, he is said to have taken a certain phase of political life as viewed through the spectacles of a prominent political attorney in New York city who, during the past few years, has been conspicuously in the public gaze upon the front pages of the newspapers, and woven it into a drama of splendid weight and proportion.

The story is said to be intensely interesting with a strong comedy relief and a few dramatic surprises, such as only Willard Mack can write.

The supporting company is exceptionally capable, and includes that splendid actor William Courtleigh whose histrionic achievements have been identified with some of the finest traditions of the American stage. Ruth King, Ethel Grey Terry, Beatrice Banyard, Lizzie McCall, Huron L. Blyden, Thomas F. Tracey, George Cleveland, Harry English, Carl Gerard, and Harry Joyner are also prominently in evidence in the large original cast.

The production is promised to be artistically colorful and effective.

HOW FOLKS PAST 40 MAY HELP RENEW YOUTHFUL STRENGTH, "PEP" AND ENERGY

That the vigor of our internal organs, gives the most accurate measure of our health and length of life is the opinion of Dr. Edouard Retterer, Professor the Academy of Medicine of Paris. He attributes the principal cause old age to the failure of the glands to normally create sufficient internal secretion, without which, they soon stop working properly and the body becomes filled with poisons. But now that Science has found a way to produce a vitalizing internal exercise of the glands and organs by the marvelous restorative Radium power of ARIUM tablets, signs of weakness and advancing years often quickly give way to renewed strength, youthful energy and vigorous activity.

William E. Kleist of Washington says: "I have been taking ARIUM Tablets for a general run-down condition — nervousness, stomach trouble, kidney and bladder trouble and many other ailments. I had tried doctors and patent medicines and everything failed but ARIUM. It has wrought a wonderful change in my condition." C. A. Bates of Plainville, Conn., writes: "I have taken only two boxes of ARIUM Tablets, but it has helped my nerves and vitality very much."

If you suffer from prostate gland inflammation, kidney trouble, torpid liver, bladder weakness or high blood pressure, with a consequent lack of FORCE and NERVE ENERGY, you owe it to yourself to try ARIUM at once. A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. Lame back, rheumatic twinges and aches, dizziness, pains in the head, sour stomach, frequent getting up nights, embarrassing nervous weakness and other distressing middle age ailments may rapidly become a thing of the past. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM, guarantees successful and satisfactory results in every case from its progressive use, or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as Chas. T. Larkins, Carnahan's, Herche's Drug Store, and Mathews.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Original Cut Rate, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr Edwards Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. . . How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

WHEN YOUR FOOD FAILS TO DIGEST

And Gurgles up in Sour Risings or Heartburn

Try a little diapepsin. Beats the world for stomach comfort. Hard to tell what upsets a stomach. Sometimes it's milk or fresh bread or steak and onions. Almost anything will cause gas, biliousness or heartburn. But whatever it is diapepsin works like magic. It actually digests food, rests the stomach, absorbs the sour, acid, brashy risings from whatever cause. Even in the morning, if you get up with a coated tongue, feel nauseated and the thought of breakfast repels food, one or two diapepsins will make you feel good and want to eat.

Anyone at the mercy of restaurants and lunch counters can fortify their stomach against trouble with one or two diapepsins after eating.

Get a 60 cent package of Pape's Diapepsin at any drug store. You'll enjoy the effect.

Fohl Picks Senators And Athletics To Battle For Pennant

Says Macks Better On Paper But Nats Will Win On Field

By Davis J. Walsh.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—There are two clubs that figure to make the fight in the American league this season and neither of them is the Yankees or the Indians, who ran one-two in the 1926 race. This was the opinion expressed to the writer today by Lee Fohl, who saw his modicum of American league baseball as manager of the Cleveland and St. Louis ball clubs and didn't really get altogether out of touch with the major league situation until his last two years with the Boston Red Sox.

This may have been like sitting in the last row orchestra at the New York Hippodrome but, at that, the man who runs in front never sees much of the rest of the field. Mr. Fohl now is sitting in the first row balcony as manager of the Toronto champions of the International league, at present in earnest training here.

From this point of vantage, or otherwise, he has seen fit to call the turn on the American league race in this wise:

The Philadelphia Athletics as the best club on paper ,which gets him nothing; the Washington Senators as the best club on the ball field, which usually gets one everything; the champion New York Yankees to fight it out with the Detroit Tigers for third place and the Cleveland Indians at the head of the second division.

In short Mr. Fohl thinks the Senators will win the pennant providing they don't up and disappoint him, ball clubs being somewhat inconsiderate about things like that.

"Their only question mark, in my mind, is the pitchers who are to help out Johnson and Coveleski," Fohl said. "That pair will win more than 30 games between them and, if they get any help from the young fellows, the club can't go wrong.

"It can do about everything that a ball club should—bunt, drag the ball, hit to any field and run the bases. Speaker will help a lot, particularly in the early season, but it was quite a club, anyhow, fast, smart and game. And some of those young pitchers may come through. Crowder looked good late last year and Lisenbee, from Memphis, was the best pitcher in the minor leagues in 1926. Carroll, from Little Rock; Coffman and Jones, from Chattanooga; Hadley, from Birmingham; Kelly, out on option with the same club, and Van Alstyne, from Bridgeport, are better than average prospects.

"Yes, I like the Senators. The Athletics may look the part on paper but they are not the club to do the things on a ball field that the Senators can and will do. They will be lucky if they get more than 75 games each out of men like Cobb, Collins and Wheat.

"The Yankees and Tigers will be in there forcing the going all the way. They have the punch and you can't deny that sort of a club a place in my race. As for the Indians, they lost Speaker and got nothing in return. Another thing; they had five or six men playing above their heads last year. That was such a good break that it doesn't figure to be repeated. The Indians would do very well to finish in the first division but, in my humble opinion, they won't."

COLUMBIANA TO PLAY HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Plans for Postponed Game Completed by Teams.

MANAGER RAY ADAM, of the Elks' county league basketball club, today announced the completion of negotiations for the appearance of the Columbiana Boosters, their nearest rivals for second half honors, on the local court next Monday night for the play off of the game postponed from last week.

Tomorrow night's game with Salineville here, and the postponed tilt with Salem, scheduled for the Salem court, complete the Antlers' card for the season, exclusive of the championship series at the end of the season, should they be fortunate enough to finish at the top.

Columbiana is a half-game behind the Elks today as a result of their victory last night over Damascus at Columbiana. The score was 43 to 31. The Quakers were easy victims for "Boots" Hawkins and his gang, the score failing to show the margin of superiority. The Boosters did practically all of their scoring in the first three quarters, when they were out ahead by a count of at least 2 to 1 proportions. Then they eased up and coasted down the concluding quarter.

Dowd, Columbiana forward, led the scorers. He registered seven field goals and five fouls for a total of 19 points.

It was the last home game for the Boosters. Two more are on their schedule, the one here Monday night and one at Damascus.

The Salem-Salineville clash, billed for Salineville, was postponed, no date being decided upon for the play-off.

It was understood today that a meeting of the league may be called for Sunday at Lisbon although league officials had not definitely issued the order.

Training Camps

Giants Play Buffalo.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 10.—The New York Giants, thrashed by the Athletics, 13 to 5, visit Palmetto today for a game with Buffalo. Devormer featured at bat, getting four hits. Hits by Wheat and Cobb helped the Mackmen, while Hornsby whiffed twice.

Cubs Are Idle.

AVALON, CATALINA ISLAND, Calif., March 10.—Another layoff for the Cubs loomed today as a result of the spring-like showers that have deluged the Pacific coast the past two weeks. The players spent yesterday in a "huddle" discussing the strange case of Johnny Mostil. Several wired messages of cheer to their fellow townsman.

CUE EXPERTS TIED FOR LEAD

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Jake Shaefer and Welker Cochran were tied today for leaership in the world's 18.2 balkline billiard tournament.

Cochran meets Edourd Horemans, the Belgian, and Shaefer meets Eric Hagenlacher, the German, in today's matches.

Hagenlacher defeated Horemans yesterday, 400 to 183, but lost to Felix Grange, of France, 400 to 378.

Yanks Play Opener.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 10.—The Yankees left here early today for Orlando to engage the Reds in the first contest of a three-game series. It will be the Yanks' first exhibition game of the season.

Robins Keep Elliott.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 10.—"Jumbo" Elliott, obtained by Brooklyn from the Coast league, is pitching impressively in practice games and will be retained. Outfielders Max Carey and Gus Felix have reported.

Nats Meet Braves.

TAMPA, Fla., March 10.—The Nationals left camp today for Bradenton where they take on the Braves today. Games with the Giants are scheduled for Friday and Saturday. Rube Marquard, the one time "$11,000 beauty" is trying to hook up with the Nationals. He is working out regularly.

Barrett In Mostil's Place.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 10.—The difficult task of filling the place in centerfied, made vacant by Johnny Mostil's rash attempt at suicide, was occupying the attention of Manager Ray Schalk of the White Sox, today. It is believed Schalk will use Bill Barrett, Mostil's roommate, in the center garden. Bill is working out in that position. He is a fair fielder and a harder hitter than Mostil.

Tribe Reds Even.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 10—Having evened accounts with the Cincinnati Reds in their two game exhibition series, the Cleveland Indians today were making preparations to take on the Boston Braves Friday at St. Petersburg. The Reds were downed, 6 to 5, at Orlando yesterday.

The Sewell brothers, Joe and Luke, are expected to report to Manager McCallister today or tomorrow.

Chicago Outfield Star Recovering

John Mostil.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 10.—The condition of Johnny Mostil, White Sox centerfielder who slashed himself with a razor in a suicide attempt here Tuesday, took a decided turn for the better today.

Physicians announced that danger of pneumonia was entirely gone, and that unless gangrene poisoning sets in, his chances for recovery were good.

His temperature early today was 100 and his pulse had dropped to 98. He was perfectly rational and conversed for a few minutes with Manager Ray Schalk.

Mostil was able to take some orange juice, his first natural nourishment since his mad attempt to end his life.

GRADE SCHOOL STARS CLASH IN CAGE TOURNEY

McKinley Sets Scoring Record in First Round.

Lincoln 16, Horace Mann 7.
Neville 11, Sixth Street Second 10.
Sixth Street First 29 Garfield 5.
Glenmoor 40, Pleasant Heights 3.
Maplewood 18, Central 7.
Pleasant Heights 27, Sixth Street 14.
Garfield 13, Central Second 10.
Central First 32, Lincoln 9.
McKinley 51, Neville 3.

Above are the results of the first two rounds of the grade school basketball tournament, which started at the high yesterday afternoon and last night.

The first round was played off in the afternoon between the teams of the seventh grade division and in the evening contests the teams of the eighth grade division were the contestants.

Lincoln, Neville, Sixth Street First, Glenmoor, and Maplewood were the winners in the afternoon battles. Lincoln in the opening game of the tournament downed Horace Mann, 16 to 7. Neville nosed out Sixth Street Second, 11 to 10. Sixth Street First had it easy with Garfield, 29 to 5. Glenmoor swamped Pleasant Heights by a score of 40 to 3, and Maplewood outclassed Central, coming through to victory 18 to 7.

In the evening clashes Pleasant Heights was too much for Sixth Street, the Heights aggregation sending its opponents down to a 27 to 14 defeat. Garfield came from behind in their last quarter to score a victory over Central Second, 13 to 10. Central First was too fast for Lincoln and easily won, 32 to 9. McKinley passers made the hi best score in yesterday's games, walloping Neville 51 to 3.

Of the teams that played in yesterday's games, McKinley Central First, Pleasant Heights, Maplewood, Glenmoor, Sixth Street First and Lincoln played the best all around basketball.

PETE LATZO IN FOR TOUGH BOUT

CHICAGO, March 10.—Experts in such matters and others who had a few dollars left after buying tickets, were laying bets at even money today that Joe Simonich, the 147-pounder from Butte, Mont., would whip Pete Latzo, welterweight champion of the world, in their ten-round match at Dexter park tonight.

Simonich created a favorable impression here by the serious manner in which he trained and the "stuff" he displayed against a Cleveland group of sparring partners. As Latzo's crown will not be at stake, Simonich will not worry about the result. He plans, he says, to make a rushing fight of it and to end it as soon as possible. He has everything to win and little to lose.

Both men are in excellent condition. Latzo's infected lip no longer bothers him, and his hands are again in good shape.

LEWIS IS STILL GRAPPLING KING

SHREVEPORT, La., March 10.—Despite the efforts of Wayne "Big" Munn, former university of Nebraska student, to take his title away, Ed "Strangler" Lewis was still boss of the heavyweight wrestling division today.

Lewis threw Munn in straight falls here last night before 10,000 fans. Ed won the first fall in 52 minutes and the second in 28 minutes.

The show was held in the football stadium at the fair grounds.

League Games Tonight.

The Sunday school league games are scheduled for tonight. Methodists will play the United Presbyterians and the Methodist Protestants will clash with the Christians. The games will be played on the M. P. gym court.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If you were to attend a golf tournament or any other meet where top golfers were competing you would note one thing—that from lies off the edge of the green these players apparently always try to hole out the ball. Professionals even go up and survey the line when they are exploding the ball from a trap at the green. You might think such attempts to be assumptive, but the fact is the play from anywhere about the green should always be an effort to hole out. In the first place, you might hole out. In the second place the chances are that if you play for the cup— a definite objective—your ball will come to rest much nearer the pin than if you merely play for the green.

This modern age discriminates —and smokes Camels

THIS age is the hardest to satisfy—it's the most discriminating age ever known. That's why it goes to Camel for cigarette enjoyment. It takes real tobacco to satisfy modern smokers and Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown, marvelously blended. Smokers of today are right in demanding Camels; no better cigarettes are made, regardless of price.

To seek a real smoke is to find Camel — the choice of the modern world. Camels are a revelation of goodness, always mellow, smooth and mild. This age shows the way to smoke contentment—
